

Donnelly For Fair At Sedalia

Candidate For Governor Gives
Address On State
Issues At Armory

"For a number of years I have been voting for appropriations for a fair at Sedalia, and if I have anything to do with it there will be a state fair at Sedalia, furthermore if I should be the governor or I want Fred Wesner for representative and Perry Storts for senator. I would like to see a Democratic house and senate for it is much easier to get along if those in power belong to the same party," said Phil Donnelly, of Lebanon, Democratic candidate for governor, addressing a large crowd at a rally at the Armory Saturday night. His reference to the Missouri State Fair was made after Judge E. W. Couey, in introducing him, said Sedalia needs someone in the governor's chair who is friendly to Sedalia, someone who will see that we have a fair next year, because there have already been two fairs passed, and if there is none held the third year, the privilege of having the fair is lost.

Address By W. L. Nelson

Sen. Donnelly, for twenty-two years a member of Missouri's general assembly, was the second speaker of the evening. The first was former Congressman W. L. Nelson, of Columbia, who substituted in the program for Governor Ellis Arnell, of Georgia, who was scheduled to speak, but who, according to a telegram read from him, was called back to Georgia after speaking in Springfield Friday night.

Mr. Nelson spoke on national issues, urged the election of Roy McKittick, candidate for U. S. Senator, Dr. George Clason, of Clinton, candidate for congressman, and Perry Storts, to the state senate, and dwelt at length on the necessity for the re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is a man of courage and vision, he said, a man who for years has been preparing for the great task that is his today. He spoke of President Roosevelt's having suffered infantile paralysis, and declared that his own illness has helped him to be more understanding of human suffering.

He spoke of the president's understanding of world affairs, of his ability to sit at the peace table with such men as Churchill and Stalin and talk to them as we talk to our neighbors. He is much more able to work out peace terms, he said, than an inexperienced person, such as his opponent. This is the second time for a President to be elected during a war, said the speaker, the first being during the Civil war, when Abraham Lincoln was re-elected.

Speaks on State Issues

Senator Donnelly spoke principally on state issues, declaring that if elected he will see that those whom he appoints as heads of bureaus, boards and commissions will keep within their appropriations, allowed by legislature, or be discharged.

"I want to put back into our state government," he said, "a little Jeffersonian democracy." Referring to charges he said were made by his opponent that he was affiliated with a political machine, he said he had not carried Jackson county, that if he had not even received a vote in Jackson county, he still would have won the nomination by about 30,000 votes. He pointed out he carried 81 of the 114 counties of the state. His votes, he said, came from all parts of the state, while his opponent, he added, did not carry the rural districts of the state, but won over the other Republican nominee by a heavy vote cast in the fifth ward in St. Louis.

Prior to the meeting there was an hour band concert by Kroencke's band, John Connor, Democratic county chairman opened the program. Judge E. W. Couey, after a short prayer, introduced the speakers.

Buster Goff Taken To Springfield

Confessed Murder
Of Sheriff Miesner,
Caught After Fifty
And One-Half Hours

Buster Harold Goff, 28 years Benton county resident, confessed murderer of Sheriff Louis J. Miesner, was taken to the Greene county jail in Springfield, Friday night after he had given a two-page confession to F. M. Brady, prosecuting attorney of Benton county, Captain G. B. Kahler, Sergeant C. R. Oliver, the latter two who apprehended him, Trooper Ralph W. Eidson, and other authorities. Goff was captured in a field one and three quarter miles west of Garland, nine miles west of Clinton, Mo., about 5:50 o'clock Friday evening.

After being hounded for fifty and a half hours by State Highway Patrol officers, sheriffs, their deputies and armed citizens, Goff finally gave himself up to Captain Kahler and Sergeant Oliver when they cornered him. When he saw there was no escaping the two patrol officers he called, "Here I am boys, come and get me", and walked directly to the captain with his hands raised high over his head, indicating he was not armed.

He was hurried over to Highway 35 where the officers had left their car. Other patrolmen were called in by the two-way radio, and the announcement of the capture was made. Captain Kahler and Sergeant Oliver placed him on the front seat between them and headed for the Henry County court house to the office of Sheriff J. D. Teays.

Goff Questioned

The court house was closed to everyone except officers and those persons having official business at the sheriff's office. From time to time Goff was asked informal questions by those in the office, while they awaited the arrival of Mr. Brady and Lieutenant H. T. George of the patrol. Soon after their arrival he was taken to a private room where he made his admission and gave a full account of what had occurred. It was a conclusive fact that a jail delivery was to have been made.

In the statement he told of how he got away, of throwing the sub-machine gun into Big Tebo, and also claimed he did not have any other guns belonging to Sheriff Miesner. Following the signing of the confession, Goff had nothing to say to questions asked him by bystanders in the office, and no questions were pressed.

He was handcuffed by Lieutenant George, and calmly walked out of the office accompanying the Troopers to a waiting automobile to be whisked out of Clinton to Warsaw, for a brief stop, and then on to Springfield, arriving at the Greene county jail at an early hour, Saturday morning.

Into "Hare And Hounds" Chase

The hunt turned into a hare and hounds chase Friday morning when Everett Trenary spotted him about 8:45 o'clock, coming out of his barn, covered with hay and straw. Trenary lives six miles east of Clinton and one mile south of highway 35.

Trenary called and asked him what he was doing. Goff replied he was rabbit hunting. Trenary looked him over carefully, became suspicious, but said O. K., and drove off, going to a farm house to telephone Highway Patrolman Ralph Eidson.

Farmers John Hunt

Eidson called Sheriff J. D. Teays, at Clinton, who with his chief deputy, R. M. Eberting, met Eidson, and the three went out to talk to Trenary. Being convinced

Roosevelt Calls For Huge Vote

Distortion Is Charged In Final
Major Address
Of His Campaign

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—(P)—President Roosevelt called tonight for at least 50,000,000 votes on Tuesday and declared himself anxious to win because "never before in my lifetime has a campaign been filled with such misrepresentation, distortion and falsehood."

In the final major address of his fourth-term campaign, to a crowd assembled in Fenway Park, Mr. Roosevelt declared that never since 1928 "have there been so many attempts to stimulate in America racial or religious intolerance."

He pronounced the American people competent to judge a political party which he described as working "both sides of the street."

Speaking in the same city where Thomas E. Dewey appeared but three days ago, he said that "just the other day you people here in Boston witnessed an amazing demonstration of talking out of both sides of the mouth."

Want No Communism

A Republican candidate, he said, asserted here in Boston that "the communists are seizing control of the New Deal through which they aim to control the government of the United States."

On the same day in Worcester, he said, the same candidate had declared a Republican victory could end one-man government and remove the "threat of monarchy in the United States."

"Now, really—which is it—communism or monarchy?" he inquired.

"I do not think we could have both in this country, even if we wanted either—which we do not."

"We want neither communism nor monarchy. We want to live under our constitution—which has served pretty well for 155 years."

Mr. Roosevelt came to Boston at the end of a day of campaigning through Connecticut and Massachusetts with repeated predictions that he would be re-elected.

Bostonians gathered in a ball park heard him declare everyone knows he was reluctant to run again this year.

"But since the campaign has developed," he said, "I tell you frankly that I have become most anxious to win—for the reason that never before in my lifetime

Hope to Reach P. I. Prisoners

A message to the Red Cross headquarters Saturday morning stated that plans have been completed for Red Cross message forms to be taken to the Philippines, which will be accepted until November 30 from relatives and friends to United States prisoners of war and United States civilian internees in the Philippines, whose addresses are known.

The messages must, of course, be subject to the U. S. Army overseas mail censorship.

Although the Red Cross cannot guarantee each and every message, all efforts will be made to reach addresses so that they may establish direct contact with their families as soon as possible after the islands are liberated.

Information concerning the forms and the messages may be obtained at the Red Cross headquarters, 404½ South Ohio avenue.

Elks Auxiliary Plans To Affiliates With Grand Lodge

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sedalia Lodge of Elks, No. 125, will meet at 8:00 o'clock Wednesday night, in the Elks Home, to make plans to become affiliated with the National Grand Lodge Auxiliary.

Refreshments will be served after the business session.

City Council Meeting On Monday Night

The regular meeting of the City Council will meet in the City Hall Monday night, Mayor A. H. Wilks to preside. It will probably be a short meeting because many of the aldermen will want to attend the last political meetings held before Tuesday, election day.

E. C. Sellinger Heads Gideons

Banquet Given
Saturday Night At Methodist Church

The Missouri Gideons fortieth state convention continued through its second day Saturday with business and devotional meetings throughout the day.

Election of officers was held at the afternoon session with E. C. Sellinger, St. Louis, re-elected state president. Other officers are: A. P. Gordon, vice president; E. F. Standley, secretary; E. W. Whitman, treasurer; L. C. Stumpf, chaplain and M. L. Grable, Bible secretary.

The Auxiliary of the Missouri Gideons held their annual meeting at a luncheon at the Bothwell Hotel Saturday noon at which time report were given from Kansas City, Joplin, Poplar Bluff and St. Louis.

The work of the Auxiliary consists of giving out testaments to nurses and other women's branches of the armed force. A total of 2,933 testaments were distributed during the past year.

Offering from the Auxiliary members and various women's church groups amounted to about $1,755.

A devotional message was brought by Mrs. A. Kidd of St. Louis: "Go ye in this thy might, have not I sent thee?"

Auxiliary Officers

The following officers of the auxiliary were elected: Mrs. D. Nixon, St. Louis, state president; Mrs. F. Boutell, St. Louis, first vice president; Mrs. E. Mills, Poplar Bluff, second vice president; Mrs. R. Harris, Kansas City, third vice president; Mrs. J. Gilb, St. Louis, secretary and treasurer and Mrs. E. W. Whitman, Kansas City, chaplain. Mrs. A. J. Weston of Joplin was appointed contact woman in organizing a camp there.

Banquet Given

A banquet for the Gideons, the Auxiliary and their guests held at the First Methodist church Saturday night was a high light of the convention, with Elmer F. Standley, state treasurer, of St. Louis, acting as toastmaster.

Invocation was given by Rev. H. U. Campbell, of the Fifth Street Methodist church and a welcome was given to the Gideons by Mayor A. H. Wilks.

Negro Youth Admits Assault

Emanuel Andrews
Attacker Of Frank
Middleton

Emanuel Andrews, 16 years old Negro boy, of Kansas City Saturday night admitted to Sedalia police it was he who assaulted Frank Middleton, alderman from the first ward, 321 North Prospect avenue, on Sunday night September 24, fracturing his jaw and robbing him of his wallet with one dollar in it. He implicated three Sedalia Negro boys in the assault and robbery.

The arrest of Andrews came after the three boys had previously told police in signed statements that it was Andrews who struck and robbed Mr. Middleton. He was picked up at his home 1727 Olive street, in Kansas City, Friday night, and brought to Sedalia by local police officers Saturday.

Was With Attackers

Last Thursday night Officers John Neitzert and Harry Butler arrested George Blackston, 18, Negro who lives at 520 West Morgan, as a window peeper at 916 South Kentucky avenue, and Friday he pleaded guilty to a peace disturbance charge and was fined $100 and sentenced to three months in the county jail. Shortly after his appearance before Judge C. W. Bente, in police court, he was questioned by Sergeant George Maness about his activities as a prowler, and he admitted being with the boys who attacked Mr. Middleton.

He named William Price, 17, 309 East St. Louis street, John Buckner, 518 North Montau, and Andrews all Negroes, as being his companions.

Later Price was questioned and he told of the assault and robbery as did Buckner. Price is serving a sentence in the county jail of three months and was fined $100 for a peace disturbance at the Missouri Pacific depot recently. Buckner is not being held, having gone to police headquarters after learning the police were looking for him, gave his statement and was released to go to his home to await further word from the officers.

Admission On Way Here

Fight Put Back Into The Nazis

Dewey Asserts
European War
Prolonged By Incompetence

By GARDNER BRIDGE
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asserted tonight that President Roosevelt's "own confused incompetence" had prolonged the war in Europe.

The Republican presidential nominee said in an address prepared for broadcast from Madison Square Garden that publication of what he called "the private plan" of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau "for disposing of the German people after the war" was "as good as 10 fresh German divisions" to the enemy.

"It put fight back into the German army," Dewey declared. "It stiffened the will of the German nation to resist. Almost overnight, the headlong retreat of the Germans stopped. They stood and fought fanatically."

On Sept. 1, Dewey said, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "renewed his earlier prophecy that Germany could be beaten in 1944 if everyone at home would do his part. Yet last Thursday, Mr. Roosevelt decided to tell us that the war had still a long way to go."

"What has happened in two months to cancel General Eisenhower's prediction?" the governor asked. He said the president "has not told us the whole story, but part of it we know."

Instead of the secretary of state or secretary of war, Mr. Roosevelt took to the Quebec conference Secretary Morgenthau "with his private plan for disposing of the German people after the war," Dewey said.

"That plan was so clumsy," he continued, "that Mr. Roosevelt himself finally dropped it—but the damage was done."

The Morgenthau plan was described in published reports as calling for reduction of Germany to an agricultural state. It raised a sharp issue between Morgenthau and Secretaries Hull and Stimson. President Roosevelt was asked about this split at his news conference Sept. 29 and called it a newspaper story. Asked whether he meant there was no foundation for the report of the split, he said no, that every story that had come out about it was essentially untrue in basic facts. He emphasized that he did not name the facts he considered untrue.

The so-called plan, existence of

Pvt. Fuls Is Missing In Action

Pvt. Donald Fuls, with Gen. Hodges First Army in Germany, 16th infantry division has been reported missing in action since October 19, according to word received by Mrs. Rose Fuls, 719 East Sixteenth street, Saturday.

Mrs. Rose Fuls is Donald's aunt. Pvt. Fuls is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Fuls, Latham, Mo. He entered the service the last of October, 1943, and has been overseas since May of this year.

Before enlistment, Fuls stayed with his aunt, Mrs. Rose Fuls, and was employed by the Howard Robert's Store, 118 East Third street. He also attended the First Christian church in Sedalia.

He received his basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla., and Ft. Meade, South Dakota and also took an active part in the invasion of France.

Fuls was a graduate of the Latham high school.

B. E. Eoff Of Warsaw Killed

Berch C. Eoff, 65, who resided in Warsaw and had a farm near the Pomme de Terre river close to Warsaw, was found dead late Friday afternoon by Dillard Martin, Warsaw, on a road in back of his pickup truck where he had presumably slipped and fallen out of the truck. He had been feeding his hogs when the accident occurred. It was reported his neck was broken.

Retired as a farmer, he was formerly the manager of the Benton county telephone exchange. He was a member of the Methodist church.

Surviving is his widow, Mrs. Maude Eoff.

Funeral services are to be held in the Warsaw Methodist church Monday afternoon.

Reported Killed In Action

Pfc. Roger F. Bieri, 28, has been officially reported killed in action in France August 4, according to a telegram received October 29 by his father, Fred Bieri, at Jamestown.

County Works For Quota

Rural districts of Pettis county are continuing their drive to reach their goal in the War Chest Fund drive. Houstonia has reported completed, turning in a total of $1097.35, which amount is over the assigned quota. Dewey Houchen and Ray Freund are leaders in the work there.

No other township has completed its report, but all are working, and partial reports have been made by workers in Smithton, Sedalia township, Flat Creek, Prairie, Lake Creek, Heath Creek, LaMonte, Washington, Cedar, Blackwater.

J. U. Morris is chairman of the county drive and Leon Archias, assistant chairman.

Contest For War Bond Drive Slogan

Plan To Raise
$784,000 Quota
In One Day

The Pettis county War Finance Committee needs a new slogan for the one-day $784,000.00 Sixth War Loan to be launched in Pettis county and Sedalia on Thursday November 16, according to Ben Robinson, co-chairman of the local war bond committee. A contest, open to all school pupils in Pettis county grade and high schools, will begin Monday morning and last until Wednesday morning, November 8, Robinson said. Two prizes of $10.00 and five dollars in War stamps will be paid by the War Finance Committee for the two best slogans submitted, and he added, the slogans will be used to promote the sale of war bonds and stamps in Pettis county.

During the last war bond drive in Pettis county, the slogan used for the one-day campaign, when over $800,000.00 was raised in seven hours; was: Pettis county over the line between the hours of two and nine. A similar two line jingle is wanted by the committee said Robinson.

Instructions To Schools

Letters of instruction on the rules of the contest have been mailed to all county school teachers by the War Finance Committee and the Sedalia schools will be informed of the procedure of the contest on Monday morning.

C. L. Hanley, chairman of the committee, has announced that the total amount of the Sixth War Loan to be raised in Pettis county is $784,000.00, with $234,000.00 of it assigned for the quota outside Sedalia and $550,000.00 within Sedalia. The slogan should tell of the one-day bond drive to be held on November 16 said Hanley, and emphasize the fact that Pettis county did it before and we can do it again. An example of what the committee wants, said Hanley, was submitted by a young lady not eligible for an award, and goes:

What we're asking for ain't hay,
But let's do it in a day—
BUY BONDS.

All entries to be eligible for the awards must be in the office of the Chamber of Commerce in Sedalia by Thursday noon, November 9. The War Finance Committee will select the two slogans, which in its judgment best represent what is desired as a "punch" line for the Sixth War Loan Drive. Their selection shall be final and all slogans become the property of the War Finance Committee to use in any way to increase the sale of War Bonds and Stamps.

Fatal Burns to Tipton Child

Elsie Maxine Birge, two and one half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Birge of Tipton, died at a hospital in California, Mo., late Friday afternoon from the effects of smoke from a fire when the four room home in which she was left alone burned about 10:00 o'clock Friday morning, from a defective coal oil stove.

The child's mother is employed at the factory in Tipton, and her father with the maintenance department of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was off for the day and taking care of the child. He had gone to town for just a few minutes and upon his return found his home in flames. He broke a window in order to gain entrance when the doors were blocked by flames, and carried his little daughter out of the house. Mr. Birge, too, suffered from smoke, burns and cuts and was also taken to the hospital in California where he is getting along nicely.

Elsie Maxine, an only child, is survived by her parents and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Ferguson of Tipton.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Allies In Advance In Holland

Schmidt In The Reich Area Is Shattered By
U. S. Bombers

WITH BRITISH TROOPS
IN HOLLAND, Nov. 4.—(P)—The British Second army, lashing out on a new sector in an attempt to drive the last German across the Maas river in western Holland, broke across Aftwayering canal west of 'S Hertogenbosch today in an advance that swept north more than a mile.

Tonight the Tommies were driving across the sand and marsh wasteland, east of the main area of fighting below the Moerdijk bridge, and were unhinging the Germans' eastern flank south of the Maas.

The infantry clambered over the opposite bank of the canal behind a thick, swirling smoke-screen and, in the first 20 minutes, had taken more than 20 prisoners—all of them paratroopers.

The attack was preceded by a barrage so thunderous that the ground seemed to roll like the deck of a ship staggering in a storm. The enemy-held bank of the canal presented a picture of devastation so terrible that the Tommies had difficulty in clambering over shell holes. Trees and whole houses had disappeared.

In addition to the artillery and mortar fire, the British used anti-aircraft guns which they levelled and fired directly ahead.

Crossroads Comment

Don't Overlook The Judicial Ballot—

At the polls Tuesday voters will receive in addition to the regular candidates' ballot, a separate judicial ballot which should not be discarded but should be properly marked and returned to the ballot box.

The people of Missouri voted the judiciary out of politics and later emphasized their determination to keep it so by defeating a proposal to put the judiciary back in politics.

Now the people are called upon to put the new system into operation, and to vote for two supreme court judges—Justice Douglas and Justice Hyde. Without regard to politics the people will vote to retain or reject these men. To vote for retention in office of these judges voters should scratch the word "no" leaving the word "yes" unmarked.

Since the people have approved this highly commendable method of selecting judges they should now continue to manifest their interest in it by voting the judicial ballot Tuesday and not shoving it aside in the voting booth.

The system twice endorsed should now be supported, is the plea of the Missouri Bar Association.

The two judges whose names appear on the ballot have the confidence of the lawyers of the state judging from a recent poll which gave them better than a 90 per cent vote.

Hoaxers Are At It Again—

Remember Orson Wells' radio hoax of an invasion of America by strange warriors from Mars? People became panicky until the farce was explained.

Well, Orson and his cavernous voice have been at it again on the radio—this time fronting for President Roosevelt and the New Deal. His purpose seems to be to scare the wits out of the people who might be thinking of voting for Dewey.

The other evening he, John Guenther, Martin Van Doran and Quentin Reynolds staged a skit that was really farcical though they tried to be serious. It was delivered on the assumption that the people would be too dumb to understand the hoax.

After a half hour of trying to calumniate Dewey and not sure the fear complex had been sufficiently developed Orson charged that Dewey was using Hitler tactics in his campaign and warned the people that the Republican candidate and his followers might attempt some sort of a Reichstag fire hoax on the American people between now and election day. Orson was so tremulous about this possibility that the listener got the impression Orson was just plain scared to death himself that the Republicans would out-smart the New Dealers.

What about the possibility of the New Dealers pulling some sort of a hoax themselves, a planted one.

Well, just in case some sort of silly stunt is attempted to panic the people, let them remember to call up their newspaper office for verification of any rumors. The Press associations are not going to be tricked by any Orson Welles' Mars invasion, or political hoax.

The Moral Right To Criticize—

Some irate readers have berated me for criticizing the man who occupies the high office of President of the United States. All that I might offer in extenuation of this policy would simply be brushed off, so let us have another spokesman on the subject.

Here is what a former president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, had to say:

"The President of the United States is merely the most important among a large number of public servants. He should be supported or opposed exactly to the degree which is warranted by his good conduct or bad conduct, his efficiency or inefficiency in rendering loyal, able and DISINTERESTED SERVICE TO THE NATION AS A WHOLE. (Capitalization is my own.)"

"Therefore it is absolutely necessary that there should be liberty to tell the truth about the acts of the President of the United States, and this means that it is exactly necessary to blame him when he does wrong or to praise him when he does right. Any other attitude in an American citizen is both base and servile. Nothing but the truth should be spoken, about the President of the United States, or anyone else. But to announce that there must be no criticism of the President of the United States or that we are to stand by the president, right or wrong, is not only unpatriotic and servile, but is morally repugnant to the American spirit."

Me, Too, Says Franklin Roosevelt—

In his Chicago speech Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt said:

"I believe in free enterprise—and always have."

"I believe in the profit system—and always have."

"I believe that private enterprise can give full employment to our own people."

"I believe in exceptional rewards for innovation, skill, and risk-taking by business."

"This administration has been mindful from its earliest days, and will continue to be mindful, of the problems of small business as well as large."

Mr. Roosevelt has a right to say that he believes all of that and more too. But his beliefs and the application of them have certainly seen twelve years of contradictions.

Any small business man who has had dealings with the administration has his own interpretation of the meaning of FDR's word "mindful" of small business—"mindful" to the extent that most of them have not enjoyed that so-called "freedom from fear" that Mr. Roosevelt so often talks about.

It is not exaggerating to say there is scarcely a business enterprise in the nation today that is not vulnerable to criminal prosecution for inadvertently violating bureau directives, so many of which are so unintelligible the bureaucrats themselves cannot be sure of their meaning.

Worthless Promises—

The dumb people are becoming distrustful of the political promises FDR hands out so suavely every campaign, just as he is doing now. This page is not ample enough to reproduce all of his recorded double talk.

Yet one espousal Mr. Roosevelt made in his 1932 Pittsburgh speech deserves reproduction:

"The credit of the family depends chiefly on whether that family is living within its income, and that is equally true of the nation. If the nation is living within its income, it's credit is good. If, in some crises, it lives beyond its income for a year or two it can usually borrow temporarily at reasonable rates. But if, like a spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds and is willing to make no sacrifices at all in spending, if it extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay and continues to pile up deficits, then it is on the road to bankruptcy."

After twelve years of New Dealism this statement reverberates its tocsin warning; it rings in the minds of the people at home, it rings in the minds of the soldiers overseas fearful of the prospects of their future.

True the war has added to our financial burdens, but unless there is an honest attempt to adjust our domestic economy with something else than sugar-coated, nugatory promises, then there is no hope of escaping national bankruptcy.

Hundreds of thousands of soldiers are thinking and worrying about this problem just as this veteran who writes from a far corner of the Orient:

"I am asking everyone what they expect conditions to be like after the war . . . A problem that bothers me is, suppose there is a business slump and the money that a person saved up is of about one-fourth as much value as he had planned . . . People will naturally be expected to pay taxes on a scale large enough to repay the national debt, in some given number of years, and I can't help wondering how it will be managed and at the same time allow the majority of people to have the necessary funds to continue in a decent manner of living. . . . It is naturally assumed that families will continue to have an average of four members each and that food and clothing will be necessary. Also a certain amount of schooling will be necessary, with the medical attention and recreation that must be provided. All such activity is basic and has in the past cost a certain amount of money which in more than 75 per cent of the cases amounted to the entire income of the family breadwinners involved. . . . The national debt at the time such practices were common was less than 70 billion dollars. Now then that debt is at least three times as large and must be paid through taxation just as we planned on paying the original 70 billion. How do you plan to pay your share of the taxes when the time comes to pay? I know that taxes on income are so heavy now that they are payable right now out of income which is a good idea if the entire cost of the war could be paid as we go by the month. I don't know that the war is self-supporting but I seriously doubt it and there seems only one way to get even again, and that is through taxes. Incidentally any president will be confronted with that problem whether it is Republican, Democrat or what not."

A Broken Pledge—

Has the Roosevelt administration been willing to make sacrifices in spending or has it extended its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay? Has it continued to pile up deficits and head toward bankruptcy just as Mr. Roosevelt himself said would happen to a nation following those practices?

How can we ease the burden of paying for the war if we continue New Deal spendthrift policies required to support a top-heavy bureaucracy?

Has Mr. Roosevelt set the pace of domestic economy by keeping this COVENANT with the American people:

"I propose to use this position of high responsibility (the presidency) to discuss up and down the country, in all season and at all times, the duty of reducing taxes, of increasing the efficiency of government, of cutting out the underbrush around our governmental structure, of getting the most public service for every dollar paid in taxation. That I pledge you, and nothing I have said in the campaign transcends in importance this COVENANT with the taxpayers of the United States."—Candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt at Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 29, 1932.

Now He Laughs It Off—

Again and again and again there have been promises and promises and promises. When challenged for their fulfillment the president merely indulges in wisecracks about the stupidity of his questioners.

Fog-Makers at Work Again—

The miasmatic illusion that Mr. Roosevelt is an American Moses leading the people out of Republican slavery is lifting like a dismal fog. Hence we have another New Deal diversion—an international emergency (where have we heard that word before) that only Mr. Roosevelt is capable of sparring with such intellectual master minds as Stalin, Churchill, De Gaulle, and Chiang Kai Shek. One only needs to keep abreast of current news in the diplomatic field to note with what suavity Mr. Roosevelt is swaying Mr. Stalin, Mr. Churchill, De Gaulle and Chiang Kai Shek.

Instead of tip-toeing among the daisies scattering American resources with confetti-like abandon in some foreign places where it is unappreciated but nevertheless accumulated in stock piles for promotion of civil dissension, maybe what America needs is a two-fisted, hard spoken practical man who can stand up to fellows like Chiang Kai Shek and save a little of our own fate instead of all of his.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE!

So They Say

The life-giving source of competition cannot be effective under bounties, special privileges or political advantages. It will be far more wise to measure our strength in terms of service, skill, efficiency and courage. With such attributes, competition can indeed be the spark plug of progress.

—Henry J. Kaiser.

The Daily Washington . . .

Merry-go-round

. . . by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—Congressional secretaries on Capitol Hill are boiling mad over another case of an attempted salary kick-back. This one involves Republican Congressman John Butler of Buffalo, whose former secretary, Miss Marie Colquist, admits that he asked her to return $1,400 of the salary paid her during the past two years. She states that the congressman said he needed this money to help finance his election campaign.

Miss Colquist, however, refused. She didn't have 1,400 in the first place and, in the second place, felt that she was entitled to her full salary.

Forced to leave, she was then given a job by another Buffalo congressman, Walter G. Andrews, also a Republican. Mr. Andrews has attached no strings to Miss Colquist's salary.

NOTE: Congressman Butler also has his daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Butler, on the government payroll as a secretary in his office.

More information has just come to light regarding another congressman who goes in for salary kick-backs. Representative Ed Rowe of Ohio, who required his secretary, Mrs. Margaret Nelson, to turn back around $110 per month out of her salary for the upkeep of his private office in Akron.

It further appears that Congressman Rowe, on receiving requests from some of his constituents to do special jobs for them in Washington, referred them to his campaign manager, a lawyer who charged the constituents a fee, thus getting reimbursed for his campaign services.

One of Congressman Rowe's constituents, Burt Vandever of Cuyahoga Falls, O., states that, when his boy died in the navy, the Veterans' Administration was slow in paying insurance, so he went to see his congressman. Mr. Rowe referred him to an attorney, James Hinton, who had been Rowe's campaign manager.

After some correspondence with the Veterans' Administration by Rowe, and the preparation of an affidavit by Hinton, the dead boy's insurance was paid. Whereupon Hinton sent the father a bill for $50. When Vandever complained about this, the fee was adjusted to $25.

Mrs. Nelson, former secretary to Rowe, says that the congressman gave her instructions to refer many constituents to Hinton so that he might be reimbursed for his campaign expenses.

Ball Outshines Boyer

Hollywood star Charles Boyer has been one of FDR's ardent campaigners. But when he makes a speech, he is careful about police protection—especially when there is a large proportion of females in the audience.

At Hunter college, New York's leading college for women, the famed Boyer requested in advance of his speech that he be given extra police to keep away autograph hunters, and a special place to park his car so he could get away in a hurry.

Came the speech. Boyer did a swell job. But there was no stampede of autograph-seekers. Instead, Joe Ball, sincere statuesque Senator from Minnesota, stole the show. Ball talked about international cooperation, and why he was supporting Roosevelt for future peace.

Afterward, the women flocked around Lincoln-esque Joe Ball. The usually lionized Boyer had no trouble making a getaway, almost unnoticed.

Navy Interest In Arkansas

Aside from the future of its commander-in-chief, the Navy Department also has a peculiar interest in this election, especially in Arkansas, which is voting on a state constitutional amendment which would ban closed-shop unions.

The navy is not particularly noted as a champion of labor. Moreover, it so happens that it is contemplating construction of a huge plant for making rockets on the Quichita river, near Camden, Ark. Rockets are counted on to play a big part in the Pacific war and the plant is needed in a hurry. However, if the navy has to worry about violating the technicalities of a state law under which certain construction unions cannot or will not work, officials say they will probably put their rocket plant in some other state.

The Arkansas amendment, incidentally, is similar to one being voted on in Florida and California, and is being quietly backed by Senator "Pappy" O'Daniel of Texas and Vance Muse, with a lot of Texas oil men and big eastern industrialist money behind them.

Muse is the man who, in 1936, persuaded the du Ponts to shell out several thousand dollars to finance his Southern Committee to uphold the Constitution and its "grass roots" convention at Macon, Ga. Only trouble with the grass roots meeting was that the big-money boys put up all the dough and the real people of the south had little to do with it.

Utah Senatorial Campaign

President Roosevelt has told advisers that, if there wasn't a war on, one state in which he would have liked to campaign this year is Utah—not because he considers it doubtful, but to support his old friend, Senator Elbert Thomas.

Thomas, now chairman of the important Senate Education and Labor committee, has helped pioneer some of Roosevelt's important progressive legislation, in addition to being a key member of the Senate Foreign Relations and Military Affairs committees.

He is being opposed this year by Adam S. Bennion, leading Mormon utility lawyer with the backing of the reactionary hierarchy of the Mormon church. Real head of the church today is Reuben Clark, a strong Hoover man whom Hoover appointed U. S. Ambassador to Mexico. Clark is doing everything possible to elect Bennion.

The White House has received word that Thomas is in for a close race but, according to latest reports, he will be re-elected.

NOTE: Senator Thomas, a former Mormon missionary in Japan, is one of the few people in the capital who speak Japanese. Each week during the war, he has broadcast to Japan, urging surrender.

Election Fight In Virginia

Washingtonians, who can't vote, are getting a second-hand kick out of the vigorous fight being waged against "alleged" Democrat Congressman Howard Smith just across the Potomac in Virginia. Nettled by the unexpected fight, Smith has gone out of his way to frighten his opposition.

First he had his opponent, Elizabeth Chilton Murray, hauled before the House Campaign Expenditures committee. Now he has intimated to Mrs. Virginia Durr, wife of able FCC commissioner Cliff Durr that he contemplates a libel suit against her. Durr is

YOU GOTTA THINK QUICK

By Stanley Paley

Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

THE telephone rang while I was in the bathtub reading the Herald Tribune. I heard Mrs. Watkins shuffle along the hallway and pick up the receiver. After a moment she thumped on the bathroom door. "It's for you, Mr. Kabateck," she said.

I'd been waiting for that bathroom for the past 45 minutes. First Miss Salemon had used it, then Mr. McNeil, and finally Dr. Ganz. It was always the same routine: Salemon, McNeil, Ganz, Ruskin and myself, but this morning I'd beaten Ruskin to it. He'd knocked on the door a couple of times and I'd told him I'd be out right away.

"Get that number, Mrs. Watkins," I said. "I'll call back later." She grunted something and shuffled down the hallway. I turned the pages of the Tribune and kept on looking at the Help Wanted ads. There was a long list, ranging all the way from Advertising Man to Zoologist (Assistant to) with columns of Salesmen in between. But there was nothing for me.

I was just feeling around in the bottom of the tub for the soap when Ruskin timidly knocked again. He first cleared his throat in that irritable way of his and then said, "I'm sorry to bother you like this, Mr. Kabateck, but I was wondering if you'd be out pretty soon. I've got an appointment at 10:30."

"Don't be sorry, Ruskin," I answered. "If you've got an appointment you've got an appointment. I'll be out in a jiffy."

This was a simple application of Dale Carnegie's formula. You bend over backwards to agree with people and they think you're a swell guy. Then you keep on doing just as you please.

About 10 minutes later the water became lukewarm and I realized I could afford to be magnanimous. I got out of the tub, pulled out the plug and walked over to the wash basin to clean my teeth. In three minutes I was all through.

WHEN Mrs. Watkins came in from the kitchen with my bacon and eggs, she laid a little slip of paper on the table. "That was the gentleman that called. He didn't give his name but left this number. He wants you to call him back as soon as possible."

The number was Dawson 8-6649 and I wracked my brains for a moment, trying to figure out who it might be. The number didn't mean anything to me, so I went upstairs to get my little notebook which was lying on the dresser. The number wasn't in it. Somewhat intrigued, I went over to the pay phone near the entrance door. Then I remembered that I wasn't dressed yet.

"I wonder if you can loan me a nickel, Mrs. Watkins," I said, popping my head into the kitchen.

"I wonder if you can loan me a nickel, Mrs. Watkins," I said, popping my head into the kitchen.

"I'm afraid I can't," she replied after a moment. "I've only got two quarters, a dime, and some pennies."

I wasn't asking her for an accounting; just for a nickel. "Thank you, Mrs. Watkins," I said.

I didn't feel like going upstairs again. Besides my bacon and eggs were probably getting cold and I decided the call could wait.

I WAS back in my room, starting to get dressed, when I remembered the phone call. I took a nickel from the pocket of my coat which was hanging over the back of a chair, and went downstairs again to dial Dawson 8-6649. A girl's voice answered. It sounded familiar, but for the moment I couldn't place it.

"This is Kabateck," I said, "Leo Kabateck. I'm returning a call." The girl started to say something when the phone was snatched away from her and Boggio got on the line.

"You must have broke a leg getting to that phone," he grunted, dispensing with preliminaries. "What the hell was all the delay about?" The thing that always amazed me about Boggio was his habit of getting straight to the point. I hadn't seen him for the past six months and here he was already bawling me out.

"I was in the bathroom," I explained. "What's on your mind?" There was plenty. The way he started unbending himself you'd have thought that I'd put a nickel in a juke box. I listened for a while and then shifted the remarks defamatory," Smith said, asking her to examine the clipping and inform him if she had been misquoted. Mrs. Durr does not consider that she was misquoted.

RECTAL, COLON and Associated Ailments

LEARN NATURE'S WARNINGS ABOUT THESE TREACHEROUS AFFLICTIONS

WHEN NEGLECTED... GENERAL HEALTH MAY BE UNDERMINED

THE McCLEARY CLINIC
EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, MO.

Want to Read Facts—Not Fiction-- About Your Ailment?

Many persons allow common and constant physical disturbances to go unchecked... as Headaches, Liver and Kidney disturbances, Indigestion, Anemia, Nervousness. These and other reflex symptoms are Nature's warnings and such symptoms are often directly traceable to Rectal and Colon troubles.

Do not wait for further possible developments. If you have any Rectal or Colon ailments, no matter how minor, they deserve immediate attention. These treacherous afflictions usually tend to progress, and may even reach an incurable condition. Now is the time to secure proper diagnosis and treatment, as general health may be impaired from unnecessary delay.

There Should Be No Delay

To have a better understanding of your condition, send for this 122-page book. It is written in a clear, easy-to-read style, with photographs and charts. You will learn about the institutional treatment used to relieve rectal and colon troubles of thousands of men and women throughout the United States. The information in this free book is based on more than forty years of experience at McCleary's. Use the coupon, a post

For Military Training Of Youth

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—(P)—Compulsory military training for youth was described Friday by Warren Atherton, immediate past commander of the American Legion, as essential, if the United States is to maintain its free way of life.

Addressing the Missouri State Teachers Association convention at its closing session, the Stockton, Calif., man asserted that peace and preparedness as a policy is the best insurance of peace this nation can acquire.

"A possible next Hitler will know that in two World Wars America has been the stumbling block to world conquest," he said. He will plan, therefore, to knock out this country first. He will try to surprise us and beat us before we can get ready."

The meeting also was told by Walter W. Head, St. Louis, chairman of the Missouri War Finance Committee, that teachers no longer are looked upon as disciplinarians and daykeepers of children but as professional persons sharing the responsibility of leadership with the banker, businessman and laborer.

Joe Herndon, superintendent of Platte county schools, was installed as the new president of the association.

The islands on the southwest and the lowlands of the western portion of the mainland are below the level of high tides and have been kept livable only by dikes, drainage canals, and pumping plants. The eastern section are well above sea level.

III. THE NETHERLANDS

This is the third of a series of articles under the general title YANKS IN EUROPE. The stories have been prepared by the National Geographic Society for the Sedalia Democrat-Capital to inform readers about the countries to which American service men and women may be sent. An article will appear in the Democrat-Capital each Sunday.

By The National Geographic Society

The Netherlands, alone among the nations of Europe, tells much of its story in its very name. These are the nether lands—lands once beneath the sea. All the area of the Netherlands is not below sea level, but roughly the western two-fifths of it; for centuries this section contained the most fertile and most valuable land, the greatest and most historic cities, the densest population. Most of this low, carefully cultivated, canal-laced region, so typical of the Netherlands of peacetime, lies within the provinces of South Holland and North Holland. Nearly half the Netherlands' pre-war population of about eight million lived in these two divisions.

It was into this region that tens of thousands of visitors used to pour. Few of them wandered beyond its borders. That tourist emphasis on the two Hollands, and the greater familiarity of Netherlands themselves with the low country, are why the entire kingdom is generally—and inaccurately—called "Holland."

Rest of Country

The rest of the country consists of Zeeland, the sea islands, once mud flats, that were made safe from the waves by dikes along their edges; the relatively low areas of the south along the Rhine and Maas rivers, the middle regions, slightly above sea level; and the provinces along the German border that are chiefly upland plains, some of them infertile and sparsely settled. The northern fringe, including Friesland, is low again, and must be protected by dikes.

In the extreme south is a narrow tail of land, the Province of Limburg, that seems strangely out of step with the rest of the Netherlands. It is hilly, and near Maastricht, has valuable coal deposits.

The entire kingdom covers less than 13,000 square miles, about the area of Massachusetts and Connecticut combined. But it carries on its books, so to speak, a huge overseas empire, 60 times as large as the mother country. The Netherlands Indies, lying in the Eastern Hemisphere, has been occupied by Japan. Another important fraction, still under Netherlands control, is near Uncle Sam's doorstep: Surinam or Dutch Guiana in South America, and Curacao and other islands in the Caribbean sea.

The Netherlands fought long and stubbornly against their alien rulers, the Spaniards, in the 16th and 17th centuries, and finally won their independence in 1648. They were overrun again by the French under Napoleon, and after the latter's defeat their country was combined with the present territory of Belgium. The two countries were separated in 1830.

Yanks Attracted

Those parts of the western region which have escaped flooding are sure to attract Yanks who have freedom to move about in the Netherlands. They will want to see, if possible, the country's metropolis, Amsterdam; Rotterdam, the great port; The Hague, political capital; Alkmaar and Edam, homes of cheeses they well know; the historic cities of Haarlem, Delft, and Leiden; and the seaside resort of Scheveningen. "Atlantic City" of the Netherlands. There in the west, Yanks will meet typical Netherlands—whom they probably will call "Dutchmen." On all sides they will hear the people refer to themselves in the same way. It will seem reasonable enough, for "Dutch" is rooted deep in history and literature. But in recent years the Netherlands government has discouraged use of the term, doubtless because some outsiders confuse it with "Deutsch," the name of the hated Nazi neighbors to the east.

Citizens Democratic

The typical Netherlands is democratic, well educated, industrious, steadfast, and dependable. His traits may well have come cycle garages where one could buy, rent or store a bicycle or have it repaired.

During rush hours in peacetime Amsterdam bicyclists rode in droves like regiments on wheels, and stopped in unison when traffic lights flashed red. In the hillside free countryside bicyclists found beside the main roads paved pathways for their exclusive use.

Miss Mary Hurlbut, Missionary In Africa, Writes of Work

"Missao do Elende, Cumia, Angola, W. Africa. June 17th, 1944.

"Dear Members of the S. S. and Men's Bible Class:

"Please excuse me for not writing you each a separate letter, but when we are so short handed and there are so many things to do, it is hard to find time to write letters, so I know that you will understand.

"I just got word from mother that you had sent me some money to help with the work out here. That was certainly welcome news, as everything is so expensive and the small budget doesn't nearly go around. I am using your gift to help me finance my village trips this year. I have just returned from one trip and I wish that I could have had you all along. I went by car, as the areas were far away and there is so much to do, that I didn't have time to go on foot. I had called in the village teachers in each area, but every-one came. The women were sure that I had come especially for them as I had had schools for them last year. When people come from a long distance for a few days conference, you can't send them away empty handed, even though you didn't prepare for them. We had to arrange lessons for them on the spur of the moment.

In many ways I like a mixed group better than either one separately, as in some lessons such as hygiene and food values, they need to work together. If you have either group alone, they pass the buck to the other party. In personal, home and community hygiene the men and women need to work together. Also in food values. If they have eggs, or milk, or vegetables such as cabbage, tomatoes, or fruit, they sell it to the white man. I told them that the white man was wise, he recognized these as good food values that would keep him and his family well, and he was glad to buy them. They (the natives) sold them and then had to use the money to buy medicines because they didn't get enough food values to keep their bodies strong and so prevent disease. The men are much more progressive than the women, and they are more likely to try something new.

"These people are going through some very difficult times. It makes you heart sick to visit the villages. There are very few men and boys left, everyone has been sent on contract labor. Even the women are caught and sent to bring the corn for the white man. In many places they have been forced to build on the roads, to leave their good houses, their irrigating ditches that they have built with so much labor, their fruit trees that it has taken years to raise. Sometimes the places are very unhealthy but they have no recourse. Many of them are living in temporary grass houses, and I said to some of the women, but this dry season you will build yourselves better houses, for this is the time of the year to get grass for thatching, and to have the mud dry well on the walls. But they said, who will build them, our husbands are all away on contract labor. They don't leave their homes from choice nor for gain. They have no choice in the matter nor will there be any gain. They will be gone from two to four years. So you need to pray for them that under these hardships they will not backslide, but will feel the Lord's presence near to them helping them.

We have been very fortunate in getting Dr. Brechet, the new Swiss doctor to say that he would come up here about every two months to help us for a few days. He is going to travel about some between the stations of his Mission, as he is the only doctor they have. Their nearest station to ours is about 80 miles away and he thought that when he came there he could come up here also. Both he and his nurse wife like our station as they say it reminds them of Switzerland. Now I don't know whether we will be able to continue this, as we can't ask them to come without paying at least the cost of the trip here. Two years ago we sent a drug order home, and about six or eight months ago it got out here, but it hasn't reached us yet, as it has been held up in the customs. I hope that it is out by now. The order was for the whole mission, and our share of the first cost at home was $303.16. These days an order trebles in cost by the time you get it out here and pay the customs, and I am sure that this order will be at least $900.00 by the time we get it. The price of drugs has risen since our order was sent, as well as freight and insurance. Our yearly budget has just been raised to $1,800.00 for all work on our station, school, boarding departments, agricultural work, medical, evangelistic, upkeep of buildings, paying of workers, etc. If you have to take half of it to pay the drug order, what is left for the other branches of the work. Worse still, is the fact that we have not as yet received the drugs and have to buy locally at a very high price. It looks as though we would have to tell Dr. Brechet not to come any more, as I don't know how we will pay for his trips. It would be such a relief to me to have him come and help out every so often, but what can you do?

"Mission work at times is very discouraging. The people are so eager and you are held back all of the time by lack of personnel or an adequate budget to meet the great opportunities that are awaiting you on every side. "Again let me thank all of you for your generous gifts and assure you that they will be well used to help carry out the work here.

"I have no idea when I will be able to get home again. The few of us who are here can't leave until some one comes to help with the work. There are at least fourteen at home that are waiting to get out but the door is closed. Pray that the door may be opened, and that they and many others may come out here to help in this great work.

"With best wishes to all of you, I am, "Your Ambassador in Christ to Angola.

"MARY."

Capt. Melvin E. Neef, War Prisoner, Freed in Romania

Melvin E. Neef, 25, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Neef, of 1100 East Twenty-fourth street, Sedalia, have been expecting him to come home on a leave, but so far as they know is still in England, is the subject of the following interesting story.

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE LIBERATION STATION, ENGLAND—Promotion of Melvin E. Neef, 25, B-24 Liberator pilot from 1st Lt. to Captain, has been announced by the 2nd Bombardment Division command by Major General William E. Kepner.

Neef is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Neef of Sedalia, Missouri, and is a graduate of Houstonia high school and the University of Missouri class of '41.

He was out of school only three weeks when he enlisted in the services on July 10, 1941, at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. After attending schools at Thunderbird Field, Phoenix, Arizona, and Bakersfield, California, he received his commission as pilot at Mather Field on February 20, 1942.

Almost directly after that, he was assigned to his present group, the now famous 389th Bombardment Group, and immediately went into intensive training for overseas combat. In June, 1943, he left the States and flew to England. There the group went into special training for a "special" job. Shortly thereafter, they left for the Middle East and further intensive work. Although no one knew exactly what the training meant at the time, all signs pointed to a very special type of bombing since low level attack was stressed.

Happened August 1 On August first it happened. The giant B-24 Liberators of the 389th took off for what has turned out to be one of the most spectacular attacks of the war; the bombing of the Ploesti oil fields in Romania from tree top level. For this feat the 389th subsequently received the coveted War Department citation.

Neef was flying as an element leader. This meant he led an element of three B-24's into the target. Ground defenses were plenty active and when the ship reached the target to be bombed, a large caliber shell knocked out one of the outboard engines, or engine number four. Neef and the copilot were unable to feather the propeller, and since they were down on the deck, or flying at zero feet, a jump was out of the question. The only alternative was a crash landing, which is exactly what Neef chose to do.

A recount after the ship landed found all of the crew alive with the bombardier pinned under the wreckage but not too seriously hurt. They all survived the crash quite successfully.

Now began a period that lasted a long 13 months when Neef and the crew were prisoners of war. The biggest obstacle to overcome was boredom. Many factors aided them in defeating this dilemma. One was the Red Cross. They saw to it that the men received enough reading material and also looked after their interests to see they were treated fairly as prisoners. Then the boys improvised athletic games and conducted classes in all sorts of subjects. Most all of them learned to speak Romanian in the long period of time they were there. All in all, he says they were treated "fair" while in Romania.

Story of Release Perhaps the story of his release is by far the most interesting part of the whole business. On the night of August 23, 1944, Romania capitulated to Soviet Russia. The following night Neef and the rest of the boys were taken by the Romanians right through the German lines to a small village in the foothills of the Carpathians.

Here they were billeted with the peasants for five days until the area was cleared of the Germans and the road was safe for travel. After that it was easy. A trip to Bucharest, and then a plane to Italy and England.

It has been a long hard pull, but all have come through looking very well. Needless to say those members of the original 389th still in England were overjoyed at the sight of Neef and the rest when they returned "home" a few days ago.

Captain Neef went down on his fifth mission. The other four include Crete, Reggio twice and the historic first bombing of Rome. For his participation in the Ploesti mission, Captain Neef has been awarded the Silver Star. This is the second highest award in the U. S. In addition to that he wears the Air Medal.

CHIROPRACTIC SAVES MONEY

A Michigan war plant employing 3000 men was having too much loss of time due to accidents of employees and its assistant manager was assigned the duty of improving the condition. After a thorough study of all factors which contributed to the high percentage of time lost through accidents he adopted what to most would be an unusual action, he sent many of the cases to a chiropractor.

Science Sidelines in reporting this says: "In January of this year, he first began sending industrial accident cases to a chiropractor. He made a careful comparison of the time saved over similar cases which had been submitted to other methods of treatment. The figures show that from January to July the lost time frequency rate was reduced from 60.25 to 20.88, or approximately 300 per cent. This executive emphasized to us the fact that he unhesitatingly gives chiropractic first place among the factors which are responsible for this accomplishment.

If such factory workers lose less time from work when chiropractic is used it is equally true that you may lose less time from your work if you will allow chiropractic to restore you to normal health.

Woman Among Killers Of Deer

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 4.—(P)—Many deer fell before hunters' guns Friday, but forest fires which destroyed more than 6,000 acres of Ozark timber marred the opening day of Missouri's first deer hunting season since 1937.

Not a single hunting accident was reported to the state conservation commission, which repeatedly warned hunters to safeguard themselves with red garments and make sure their targets were deer rather than humans.

Hunters had their best luck in the northern tier of the 20 southeastern Missouri counties which were opened for the two-day shooting period.

Quickest kill was reported by E. A. Warnol, St. Louis war plant worker, who got a four-point buck weighing 262 pounds 15 minutes after the firing began at 7:30 a. m. He made the kill near Indian Trail state park, one of the few successes from that Dent county area.

A farm woman—Mrs. George Cowgill of Milan, Mo.—was among the successful hunters with a 242-pound, four point buck killed near Sullivan.

Soldier Vote May Decide Winner

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(P)—If the presidential race is as close as four nationwide polls predict, the winner may not be known until the soldier votes are counted—days or even weeks after election day.

Eleven states, with a total of 123 electoral votes, will not count all their military ballots election night. At least three of them—Pennsylvania, Maryland and Missouri—are classed by the polls as "doubtful." One opinion survey has concluded that Pennsylvania's 35 electoral votes will decide the election.

In the event of such a close race, the winner might not be known until Pennsylvania's tabulation of its 250,000 or more soldier votes is completed. The tabulation will begin Nov. 22 and may take several days.

Should the election hinge on California's 25 electoral votes, however, as it did in 1916, the winner might not be known for an even longer period. California, which has mailed more than 250,000 G. I. ballots, will start counting most of the returned ones Nov. 24, but the official total will not be announced until Dec. 16.

Utah will count its state G. I. ballots election night and its federal ballots Nov. 12. Nebraska will count state ballots Nov. 13 and federal ballots Dec. 1. Washington's county canvasses will begin Nov. 27 with the state canvass set for Dec. 7.

Most counties in Florida will begin the soldier vote tabulation Nov. 8.

Under 3 REPUBLICAN Presidents We Had

The greatest scandal in U. S. Government history—the shameful Teapot Dome deal.

The greatest crime era in U. S. history—during 12 years of prohibition.

High tariffs that destroyed our foreign trade and cost us the friendship of many nations.

Stock-market gambling and securities manipulations that robbed the people of their savings.

A policy of isolationism which led to the scrapping of our navy, the reduction of our army to a mere skeleton—a policy which left us virtually helpless in a world seething with war symptoms.

A policy of obstructionism which caused the Republican bloc in Congress to oppose every measure for national defense proposed by the President until the bombing of Pearl Harbor shocked these obstructionists to the danger.

The shameful episode of "The Bonus Army," veterans of "World War I," who were driven out of Washington by brutal force when they marched there to see President Hoover.

The greatest depression in history, with its sorry story of idle millions, closed banks, shut-down factories, farm and home foreclosures, soup and bread lines, riots and panic all over the land.

Unquestioned honesty and integrity in the administration of national affairs—no shameful scandals.

No organized gangs to terrorize the people and flout the law—liquor control returned to the States.

The "Good Neighbor" Policy and Reciprocal Trade Agreements which have regained much of the foreign trade and good-will lost by the Republican administrations.

Protection for the public against stock swindles... an end to stock-market gambling which helped to bring on the depression.

Prompt help to the nations fighting tyrant Germany—giving the U. S. time to prepare for obviously inevitable war. Building in record time, the world's most powerful army, navy and air force when the inevitable war finally came.

A strong and intelligent leadership which made America ready for war over Republican opposition; which fought for expansion of the navy, a bigger army, Selective Service, Lend-Lease and other measures while the Republican bloc in congress fought against them.

Renewed employment, insured banks, reopened factories; and end to farm and home foreclosures, soup and bread lines, riot and panic... social and economic security instead of hunger, idleness and fear.

which has been denied by the administration, was said in published reports to have called for reducing Germany to an agricultural state.

"The publishing of this plan while everything else was kept secret," Dewey said, "was just what the Nazi propagandists needed."

Alluding sarcastically to Morgenthau as "that master of military strategy and foreign affairs," the candidate asserted there had been "tragic consequences of this blunder."

Dewey quoted published stories to the effect that American troops overseas had found stiffened resistance by the Nazis and wondered if this had been caused by announcement of plans at home of what might be done with a defeated Germany.

"What does this mean?" Dewey demanded. "It means that the blood of our fighting men is paying for this improvised meddling which is so much a part and parcel of the Roosevelt administration. And at the very moment when his own confused incompetence has thus prolonged the war in Europe," the nominee continued, "Franklin Roosevelt goes on the radio and claims for himself the credit for everything our engineers, our war workers, our industry, our farmers and our fighting sons have done."

"We are advancing and shall reach our goals. Once rid of capricious, personal government, once we give our whole, our united thoughts to victory, we shall reach Berlin and Tokyo quicker—with less cost."

Sums Up Program

Dewey summed up the credo of his campaign in these words:

"Openly and in plain words John W. Bricker and I, in the name of the Republican party, are dedicated to these propositions: "1. To speed total victory and the prompt return of our fighting men by putting energy and competence in Washington behind the magnificent effort of our military command."

"2. To provide American leadership in the world for an effective organization among all nations to prevent future wars."

"3. To direct all government policies in the peacetime years ahead to achieving jobs and opportunity for every American."

To these ends, Dewey pledged: "We shall restore honesty and integrity to our national government."

"We shall put an end to one-man rule."

"We shall unite our people in teamwork and harmony behind a President and a congress that can and will work together to realize the limitless promise of America."

He said these objectives could never be obtained "under the tired and quarrelsome administration that has been in office for 12 long years" but only by "a new, vigorous administration that comes fresh from the people."

"That's why all over the country the people are saying it's time for a change," Dewey said.

The Republican candidate, addressing a final rally where the late Wendell L. Willkie finished his campaign in 1940, said Mr. Roosevelt "year after year has systematically abused and insulted the Republican leaders of the senate and the house."

"Those leaders joined with me in an effort to lift the program for lasting peace above partisanship. They publicly pledged themselves to support the program for world peace on which Secretary Hull and I had cooperated."

"But this harmonious non-political approach was not politically profitable to Mr. Roosevelt, so he denounced the Republican members of congress and accused them of erecting a party spite fence between us and the peace."

has a campaign been filled with such misrepresentation, distortion and falsehood. Never since 1923 have there been so many attempts to stimulate in America racial or religious intolerance."

Refers To Distrust

A candidate reveals a "shocking lack of trust in America," he said, "who declares there is danger the American government could be sold to communists."

The chief executive's last big campaign address covered his past record, his health, his answers to some Republican campaign arguments and an expression of his aims for a "clean, shining America" after the war.

Votes As Way To Change

"I believe I heard some campaign orator say that this incompetent administration had developed a program which was so good for the farmers and the businessmen and the workers of the nation—that it is time for a change."

"I think I heard some campaign orator say that we have so thoroughly shifted the control over our banks from Wall Street and State Street to the capital of the United States—that it is time for a change."

"And I am quite sure I heard somebody say that this 'chaotic' administration has done such an amazing job of war production—that it is time for a change."

"I think I even heard somebody say that those 'tired, quarrelsome' old men—are waging such a victorious war—that it is time for a change."

"Well—if it is time for a change—the way to get it in this democracy is by means of votes. Whether I win or lose, I want to see a turn-out next Tuesday of the biggest vote in our American history."

"And that means at least fifty million votes."

Right at the start, the President spoke of his health. In the 1923 campaign when he was running for governor of New York, he said, people even then were "saying to me that I should not permit me to discharge the duties of public office."

"I think that it is by now a pretty well established fact," he remarked, "that I managed to survive my four years as governor of New York."

Mr. Roosevelt conceded that his administration had made mistakes. But he said he thanked God it could not be charged that it made the mistake of "forgetting our sacred obligation to the American people."

For veterans, when they came trudging home from fighting fronts, he promised "honest, self-respecting jobs," a real chance to settle on their own land for those seeking farms, a fair opportunity to others to go into business.

For the second time during the day—he had done it earlier at Springfield—the chief executive gave his answer to Republican contentions that he had broken a 1940 campaign promise made here in Boston.

It was in Boston that the chief executive said four years ago that he would say "again and again, your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars."

"We got into the war because the Japanese attacked us and Germany and Italy declared war on us," Mr. Roosevelt said, adding:

"I am sure that any real American would have chosen, as this government did, to fight when our own soil was made the object of a sneak attack. As for myself, under the same circumstances, I would choose to do the same thing—again and again and again."

Tracing the Administration's pre-Pearl Harbor program, the chief executive said America was better prepared for this war than for any in history, with 2,000,000 men in service at the time of Pearl Harbor, war production rolling, the Navy building, and the nation equipped with "spiritual preparedness."

Furthermore, he said, many fortifications have been erected at home since 1933 to protect bank deposits, living standards, labor rights, natural resources, and to guard against unemployment and old age hazards and against inflation and runaway prices.

"These fortifications," he declared, "are now manned by zealous defenders—and these defenders are not communists and they are not fossils."

Carolyn Staley Who

Fell On Knife Improved

The condition of Carolyn Staley four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Staley, Jr., 2023 South Grand avenue, who fell Monday night on a knife, is improved. Carolyn had gone with her brother, Charles to get some sticks for a wiener roast. After cutting the sticks the boy stuck the knife in the ground until he could gather up his sticks. He called to his little sister and as she started to run to him she stumbled and fell on the knife cutting her right leg just above the shoetop and just above the knee. Fourteen stitches were taken on the two cuts.

Wilmer Steeples, 304 West Seventh street, who has been ill since July 28, part of the time in the Bothwell hospital, suffering from pneumonia, is convalescing nicely, and in about a week expects to be able to be at his place of business, the Square Deal Produce Company.

after talking to him, the man was Goff, they notified other patrolmen, and the hunt in that immediate neighborhood began. They were joined by farmers in the vicinity, and it was not until late in the afternoon they were near enough, although they knew all day he was just ahead of them, to close in on him.

Donald Williams, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williams saw him cross the road, just after patrolmen had passed. Goff, as the boy felt sure he was, went to a hay stack, stayed a few minutes, then started west. Donald contacted patrolmen immediately and Kahler, with Oliver soon had him spotted, but were careful to have him in a trap before closing in on him.

Planes In Search

Eidson, who is on leave of absence from the patrol, went to the Clinton airport and took his small Piper two-seated plane into the air to assist in the search. He was accompanied by his partner in the Clinton airport, Ralph Lowe.

They circled the area where Goff was first seen and kept in contact with the patrol by radio, landing in various fields to contact officers on the ground party to ascertain any new developments.

Goff told Eidson, "I kept seeing and hearing the plane, and thought it might be forced down or something. You flew over me nearly all day, and caused me to hit for trees and hedges when you flew over."

Captain Kahler in discussing the case, expressed the appreciation of the patrol for the fine cooperation of the sheriffs, their deputies, and citizens assisting in the search and especially to those who kept notifying the officers, whenever and where ever they saw Goff.

Charge Filed

Mr. Brady stated a first degree murder charge had already been issued for Goff. He said he was not sure when the preliminary hearing would be held, but said it would be several days, as the case would probably not come up for trial in the Benton county criminal court until the next term, which is February.

Sheriff Harrison Eaton said Goldie Smith, who appeared to be involved in the proposed jail break was being held in the Benton county jail, while Kenneth Holloway, who it was indicated, was one of the prisoners to be delivered in the break was removed from the jail and taken to Greene county for safe keeping.

The Smith girl, who is 18 years old, and Holloway are being held pending trial in criminal court on a charge of burglary and larceny in connection with the robbing of a Lincoln, Mo., garage, in which more than $200 in money, several cases of whiskey, and other articles were taken about four weeks ago.

The girl denied any knowledge of a planned break, and insists she was going to the assistance of Sheriff Miesner, when the shooting occurred. She also denied that she accompanied Goff out of the jail, in an endeavor to escape, declaring that she was forced at the point of the machine gun to accompany him.

Says He Got Scared

"Louis got scared, and I got scared and shot him," he is said to have told the officers on the way to Clinton. He was cool, calm and collected, had a two days beard, and his clothing was damp from being out in the rain. He had traveled about 18 miles since morning.

Kahler quoted Goff as saying he shot Miesner with the sheriff's own machine gun when Miesner resisted his attempt to free himself and two others prisoners from the Benton county jail.

"I didn't intend to kill him," Kahler said Goff told him.

Described Plot

Kahler said Goff—a 27-year-old convicted burglar—described a plot with two other jail inmates to seize the sheriff's gun, use it to obtain the keys to their cells, and escape.

But the only one to get away was Goff, who as a trusty was not locked in a cell.

A convicted burglar, Goff escaped from the Benton county jail at the time the sheriff was slain with three shots from his own machine gun.

Bloodhounds, armed citizens, about 50 state highway patrolmen and other officers had combed the Ozarks country from 5 o'clock Wednesday until Goff came out of a field and gave himself up.

Patrolmen said the sheriff's machine gun which disappeared at the time Goff fled was not recovered. They said Goff told them he "threw it in the river." He did not identify the stream.

Harrison Eaton, Republican candidate for sheriff, who has no opposition in the race, was appointed acting sheriff late Friday, by Benton county court. He is a son-in-law of the late Sheriff Garrett Joe Groomer, who was shot and killed by four men September 21, 1924. A 28 Special Colts gun, which is missing from the jail, believed taken away by Goff, is missing. This gun was the property of Sheriff Groomer, and given to Eaton by Mrs. Eaton, Groomer's daughter. Eaton had loaned it to Miesner. He is very anxious to have it back, and will appreciate its return by anyone who finds it. It may have been thrown away by Goff. Eaton will pay a reward for its return, he stated.

Truman Plea For Roosevelt

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 4. —(P)—Sen. Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, closed his nation-wide campaign tour tonight with an appeal to his home townsmen to "send Franklin D. Roosevelt to the peace table" and "not betray American boys who have made the greatest sacrifice a man can make for his country."

"Ask yourselves if you want a man with no experience to sit at the peace table with Churchill, Stalin and Chiang Kai-Shek," he told a crowd gathered to welcome him home from his stumping trip. The text of his speech, broadcast over a state network, was made public at his Kansas City office.

"Or do you want a man to represent you who can meet these leaders on equal terms, a man who knows these men, a man who has been a member of the team that is winning the war, who knows the innermost thought of his teammates, and who is determined to see that his own people gets the best deal?"

Won But Lost Peace

Truman told his audience that America won a war in 1918, and continued "we lost the peace in 1920 when we were misled by the promises of a candidate for the presidency—Warren G. Harding—who solemnly assured the country he was for a society of nations to preserve the peace."

"History gives us the answer to Harding's promises. His failure is the reason our boys are now dying again on the battlefields of the world. We dare not make that mistake again—we cannot afford to rely on promises—promises of another candidate of the party of Harding, a candidate with no foreign policy of his own, but who, for reasons of political expediency has been forced to give lip service to the foreign policy of the Roosevelt administration."

Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church and president of the Sedalia Ministerial Alliance gave the welcoming address. Scripture reading was by Walter D. Guy of Colorado Springs with prayers by Rev. J. Fred King of the First Methodist church and Chaplain Willis M. Lewis of the SAAF.

D. G. Nixon of St. Louis lead the group singing.

Miss Luowina Lohmann, St. Louis sang: two solos accompanying herself on the accordion and also played several accordin numbers.

Richard J. Holzwarth of Ft. Wayne, Ind., sang two solos and also brought a brief message.

Mrs. D. G. Nixon of St. Louis state president of the Auxiliary was introduced and made a short talk.

The main address of the evening was given by the international president, Charles P. Eisenmayer, who dedicated a stack of Bibles which were arranged in the form of a cross to be put in the hospitals in Sedalia, and also three Bibles which will go abroad the maritime ship which will be called the "Sedalia" and will be dedicated something in January.

Mr. Eisenmayer brought an inspiring message: "The Power of the Word of God," in which he expressed concern on the home front. "The young people want the word of God," he said. "The Christian People were founded on the word of God and it is time we got back to worship." He said that a challenge was issued to the people at home for when the young people return, because they have found God in the fox holes and in the planes and tanks.

Mr. Eisenmayer urged that the civilians pray as the chaplains and men and women in service have learned to pray. Pray not for the boys in your own homes, your own churches but for all in service for some of them have no homes and prayers are needed. Prayer, sincere prayer, will bring this world conflict to an end.

A short talk was made by I. H. Reed, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Offering For Testaments

An offering was taken for the purchase of testaments for men in the armed service and $210.50 was collected.

A few remarks were made by the state president, E. C. Sellinger.

Benediction was by L. C. Strumpf, state chaplain.

Following the banquet a street meeting was held at the court house lawn conducted by John Gibb, St. Louis.

Gideon representatives will be in most of the churches in Sedalia today.

Americans In Key Town Assault

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Sunday, Nov. 5.—(P)—The American 24th division has commenced an over-water aerial assault against Panamopan, key Carigara bay town at the northern terminus of the Ormoc valley highway, headquarters reported today.

The enemy has prepared "hasty defensive positions" in the hills fronting the plains north of Amer-

Seaman Now Listed as Dead

Mrs. Opal Benedum, Olton, Okla., formerly of Sedalia, has received the Purple Heart awarded posthumously to her son, Donald LeRoy Benedum, S 1/c, who was listed as missing on July 12, 1943 and on July 12, 1944 was "presumed to be dead."

The young man was born in Okmulgee, Okla., September 5, 1923 and was graduated from the Smith-Cotton high school in 1941. He enlisted in the Navy on July 6, 1942, took his boat training at Great Lakes, Ill. On August 23, 1942 he entered Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., for a sixteen weeks course in signals and from there went to Washington, D. C., in the Medical Corps. He asked for sea duty and was assigned to a destroyer making one trip across in April and May. He returned for the invasion of Sicily, where his ship was attacked and sunk at 5:20 a. m., fifteen miles off the coast. He was on duty at the bridge signaling at the time of attack.

His father, Orla C. Benedum, died February 26, 1944.

Be In Bonds Drive

Colonel Salisbury was invited Saturday night by C. L. Hanley and Ben Robinson, co-chairmen of the Pettis county War Finance Committee, to participate in the one-day war bond festivities to be held in Sedalia on Thursday, November 16.

The opening of the bond drive day will be known as "Buck Salisbury's Day" in honor for all that he had done for his country as a member of a fighter group of the United States Army Air Corps.

"I will be more than happy to cooperate in any way I can," said Colonel Salisbury, "and sincerely hope that I may in some small way add to the success of your endeavors. However," he continued, "I shall have to make special arrangements to be with you which will make it necessary for me to fly back to Sedalia sometime on Thursday, the 16."

A reception committee has been formed, according to information given by Ben Robinson, that will make all arrangements in Sedalia for the celebration of Colonel Salisbury's return. "Sedalia will further honor him," said Robinson, "by subscribing the bond quota assigned to Pettis county in one day and will no doubt be one of the first counties in Missouri to complete the Sixth War Loan drive."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Milton and daughter, Miss Jean Milton, of Clayton, and Miss Milton's fiancé, Walter K. Hamburg, whose engagement was formally announced recently at an open house party at the Milton home in Clayton, 30 Lake Forest, are week-end guests here of Mr. Milton's father, E. H. Milton, 1009 West Broadway.

The wedding is planned for early February.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton were residents of Sedalia before moving with their family to St. Louis several years ago.

Miss Genevieve Leonea Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loan Woods Richardson, of 1108 South Lamine avenue, and Mr. Phillip Blakey, of Kansas City, were married Monday evening, October 30, at Olathe, Kas.

The bride, reared in in Sedalia, was graduated from Smith-Cotton high school, attended the State Teachers college, Warrensburg, and has for some time been employed in Kansas City, at the present time at Glines in the accounting department.

The bridegroom, who is a native of Elizabethtown, N. C., has been employed in Kansas City, and is now with the circulation department of the Kansas City Kansan.

Mr. and Mrs. Blakey are temporarily located at a hotel in Kansas City.

A candle light pledge service of the Beta Tau Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Chambers, 912 South Harrison avenue, with the president, Miss Ida Mae Redkey, in charge of the ceremony.

Talisman roses, the sorority flower, and white candles were used about the home.

Pledges were Mrs. Rita Kinney, Mrs. Rena Crippen, Mrs. Frank Sellers, Mrs. Vivigene Pack, Miss

Bessie Woodard, Miss Georgia Sullivan and Miss Gladys Sparks. Following the service the young women went to the Bothwell hotel for dinner. Mrs. William Hurlbut, Jr., the new social sponsor for the year, was a special guest.

Mrs. N. E. Randall, 1006 West Seventh street, entertained 14 friends with a bridge luncheon Friday at Heard Memorial club house.

The dining table was centered with a bouquet of marigolds. Those who scored for bridge awards were Mrs. E. F. Yancey, Mrs. Fred Hulse and Mrs. V. V. Tullis.

Mrs. Lindstrom Is Sorosis Speaker

"The Influence of the Geography of Russia Upon its People," will be the subject of an address to be given Monday afternoon at Sorosis by Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom, chairman of the History and Literature department.

Mrs. Frank Monroe of the Terry apartments entertained in honor of Mrs. Theodore Erhardt and Mrs. Ted Cole of California, Mo., at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon-bridge Thursday afternoon at the Heard Memorial clubhouse.

Other guests were Mrs. John McGrath, Mrs. D. P. Dyer, Mrs. C. A. Wright, Mrs. W. F. Keyser, Mrs. Heber U. Hunt, Mrs. Hugo M. Sparr, Mrs. George H. Trader, Mrs. Howard Roberts, Mrs. Harvey Brimmer, Mrs. D. Kelly Scruton, Mrs. Abe Bertman, Mrs. E. H. McQuiddy, Mrs. J. C. Griffin, Mrs. John Caldwell, Mrs. Charles E. Yeater, Mrs. Leo Bloess, Mrs. L. J. Banner and Mrs. Fred Hulse.

Federation Day For Helen G. Steele Club

The Helen G. Steele Music club will observe Federation Day, at the regular meeting on Wednesday, at 2:00 o'clock, at the Heard Memorial clubhouse, Mrs. E. F. Yancey, life president, presiding, and Mrs. A. R. Beach serving as chairman of the day.

Special guests will be Mrs. Tyree G. Newbill of Kansas City, president of the Missouri Federation of Music clubs, who will give an address, and Mrs. Hart Dierks of Kansas City, state chairman of Music in Hospitals, who will talk about the work of her department. Mrs. Dierks will be assisted by Mrs. A. R. Beach who has arranged a program demonstrating musical therapy.

The program: "Meditation from Thais" Massenet—Mrs. John Rodeman, accompanied by Miss Lillian Fox. "Kamennio-Ostrov" Rubenstein—Miss Lillian Fox. "Lullaby" Brahms; "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" Moore—Mrs. Robert Seelen, accompanied by Miss Lillian Fox.

Mrs. Charles Goodknight, junior department chairman, will present the junior winners in district contests sponsored by the Missouri Federation of Music clubs.

A luncheon will be served preceding the meeting at 12:15 o'clock. Members wishing to attend should telephone reservations to the club house, number 162 by Monday evening.

Members are asked to secure their copies of the year book which are ready for distribution at the clubhouse.

Bloess, Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Caldwell were the bridge awards. Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Morley arranged the centerpiece of flowers for the table from their garden.

Miss Barbara Ann Smith and Miss Mary Jane Scotten celebrated their seventeenth birthdays, Barbara Ann's November 2, and Mary Jane's November 7, by entertaining a number of girls at a dinner at the Bothwell hotel, in the Palm room, Thursday night.

The table was placed in an L shape, and in the center was a bouquet of red roses and pink mums. At each girl's plate was a red rose, a favor. A two tier birthday cake was topped with seven candles.

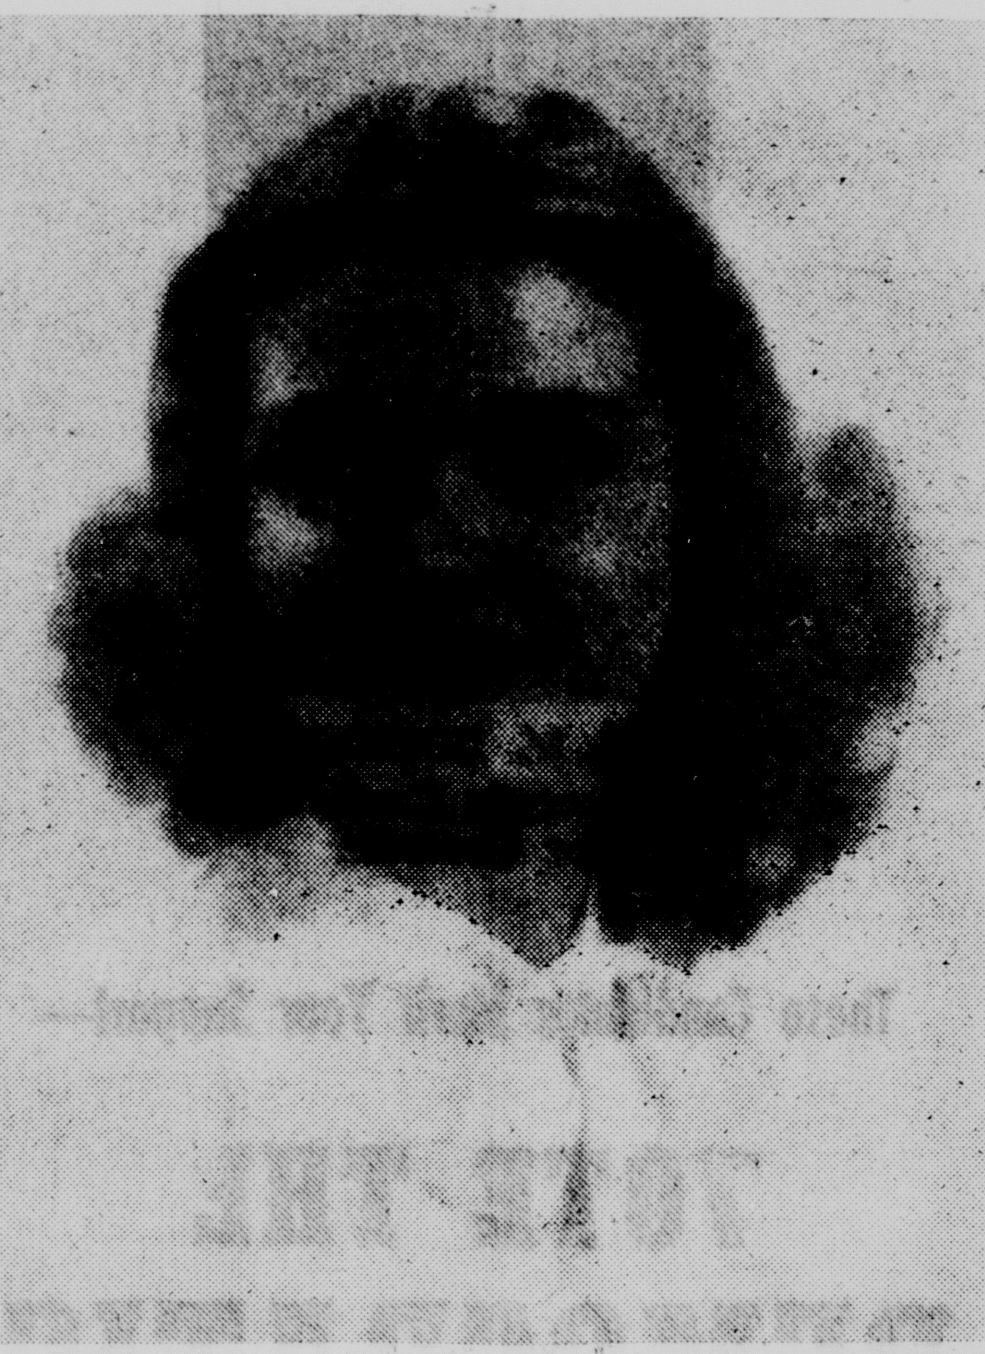

After the dinner the guests were taken to the Fox theatre.

Their guests were: Misses Hazel Kirkpatrick, Anne Hurley, Helen Sherman, June Decker, Jean Whitley, Margaret Sneed, Marcielle Kantor, Jacqueline Hatfield, Barbara Roberts and Patty Ann Sullivan.

Mary Jane is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Scotten, and Barbara Ann, who makes her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith, is a daughter of Dewey Smith, who is in an internment camp in Manila, P. I.

Miss LaVonne Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright, 1500 West Broadway, a student at Sweet Briar college, Sweet Briar, Va., and her roommate, Miss Cecil Butler of Jackson, Fla., attended the Westpoint Military academy football game and "hop" Saturday night. They will spend two weeks in New York before returning to school.

Will Marry In February

Miss Phyllis Jean Milton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Milton, of St. Louis, formerly of Sedalia, whose engagement to Walter K. Hamburg, also of St. Louis, was recently announced at an open house party at the Milton home, 30 Lake Forest.

Garden Club Past Chairmen Have Luncheon at Wilks Home

The Past Chairman Group of the Sedalia Garden club met at the home of Mrs. A. H. Wilks, 116 East Broadway, for a luncheon Friday noon. The club is composed of women who have served as chairman of one of the six garden circles since its organization and there are thirty-two members.

The Wilks home was attractively decorated throughout with autumn flowers.

Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, president of the group, presided over the meeting at which time the following officers were elected: Mrs. James Atkinson, president; Mrs. Arthur Bratten, first vice-president; Mrs. R. L. McKean, second vice-president; Mrs. C. F. Hert, secretary and treasurer.

The outgoing officers were: Mrs. Mitchell, president; Mrs. A. Ferguson, first vice-president; Mrs. James Atkinson, second vice-president; Mrs. A. H. Wilks, secretary and treasurer.

Officers Installed. The installation was in charge of Mrs. O. W. Bagby and the new officers were given certain

The popular Game Day 1 o'clock luncheons on Tuesday at the Heard Memorial clubhouse continue. Members of the Helen G. Steele Music club and Sorosis planning party groups are asked to make reservations by Monday noon.

Garden Circles Will Discuss Shadow Boxes

Shadow and winter bouquets will be the subject for discussion at the Garden Club circle meetings Friday afternoon following 1 o'clock dessert luncheons.

The meetings are scheduled as follows:

Circle one—Mrs. George Sneed, 114 West Broadway, hostess, with Mrs. J. S. Brenneman and Mrs. W. W. Blain assisting.

Circle two—Mrs. Harry Brougher, 1008 South Carr avenue, hostess, with Mrs. A. W. Johns and Mrs. Frank Armstrong assisting.

Circle three—Mrs. Gilbert Jones, 1401 West Fourth street, hostess, with Mrs. B. F. Parker and Mrs. H. L. Netherthorn assisting.

Circle four—Mrs. W. H. Stewart, 118 South Stewart avenue, hostess, Mrs. Ida Harriman assisting.

Circle five—Mrs. C. K. Parsons, 910 South Osage avenue, hostess, Mrs. W. H. Stephenson assisting.

Circle six—Mrs. Joe Williams, 1714 West Sixteenth street, hostess, Mrs. G. W. Anderson and Mrs. Russell Martin assisting.

Miss Dorothy Ann Knecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo V. Knecht, Okarche, Okla., and George Curran Krittenbrink, son of Mr. George Krittenbrink of Kingfisher, Okla., and nephew of Miss Agnes Curran, 222 South Grand avenue, were married at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, October 18 in the Holy Trinity church in Okarche. Preceding the nuptial high mass, Msgr. Zenon Steber officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Miss Kate Heinen, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and the mass of the "Blessed Sacrament." The offertory by Wendell was soloed by Miss Myrtle Naberhaus.

Baskets of white gladioli and ferns decorated the altar.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white satin, fashioned with long fitted waist and long sleeves, finished with tiny satin covered buttons and a row of narrow pleated net. A row of pleating was also used to finish the sweetheart neckline. The double skirt of white net was gathered to the waist and fashioned with mock bustle, that formed two wide satin panels extending over the long train of skirt. Her veil, of illusion, was the double tier fingertip style, and the head dress was of three large white rolled net roses centered with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from her brother, Staff Sgt. Francis J. Knecht, who was unable to attend the ceremony. For something old, borrowed and blue she carried a

Those who served as chairmen of the various circles last year were invited guests for the afternoon. They were: Mrs. F. S. Leach, Circle No. 1; Mrs. A. W. Johns, Circle No. 2; Mrs. T. E. Donaldson, Circle No. 3; Mrs. J. C. Saunders, Circle No. 4; Mrs. H. P. Howard, Circle No. 5 and Mrs. E. W. Rucker, Circle No. 6.

They were taken into the organization by a unique initiation. Mrs. Atkinson presented them as a bouquet of flowers and by pantomime they acted out the name of the flower they represented, after which they were welcomed into the club as new members.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Kanter, 406 Dal-Whi-Mo court, have returned from Austin, Texas, where they visited their daughters, Mrs. Newton J. Friedman, and son, Gary Kanter Friedman, and Mrs. Louis Schwartz and daughter, Susan Harriet Schwartz, Rabbi Friedman and Mr. Schwartz.

Also visiting in Austin with them for the last two weeks was Mr. and Mrs. Kanter's son, Marvin ("Sonny") Kanter, seaman first class, U. S. N., who was on a leave. Seaman Kanter has been in service a year and has circled the globe. He sailed from the west coast and returned to the States several weeks ago via the Atlantic. He first visited in Sedalia and then joined the members of his family in Austin. He flew Saturday from Austin to San Francisco to report for further duty.

Mrs. Kanter has spent the last six weeks in Austin.

Miss Agnes Schaefer, daughter of Mr. Peter Schaefer, of Roswell, New Mexico, and niece of Miss Agnes Curran, 222 South Grand avenue, became the bride of DeForest M. Bray, CM 1/c, formerly of Ottumwa, Mo., on Sunday afternoon, October 22, at 2:00 o'clock at the St. Peter's church. The Reverend Father Christian Studener read the single ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate family and close friends.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of ice blue, with accessories of black, and a single white orchid formed her corsage. She carried a pearl rosary.

Her only attendant was her niece, Miss Mildred Higdon, who wore a street length dress of pink with brown accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Mr. August Donkers of Albuquerque, N. M., served as best man.

Mary Ann Clardy and Martha Marye Cunningham, small nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They were dressed in white with gardenias in their hair and carried nosegays of white mums and carnations with streamers of pink and blue.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, 208 East Bland, Roswell, N. M. The home was profusely decorated with fall flowers and a three tier wedding cake on the dining room table was cut by the bride and bridegroom in the traditional manner.

The bride, formerly of Akarene, Okla., has resided in Roswell for the past several years where she has been employed by the Roswell Plumbing and Heating company.

The bridegroom was born in Ottumwa, Mo., but in more recent years he has resided in Kan-blue chiffon handkerchief that her mother carried at her wedding twenty-seven years ago. Her arm bouquet was of white gardenias with showers of satin ribbon.

The bride's sister, Miss Marie Knecht, was maid of honor and Miss Krittenbrink, cousin of the bridegroom was the bridesmaid. Miss Knecht wore a dress with long fitted gathered and shirred waist of gold satin that buttoned down the back and full skirt of marquisette. She carried an arm bouquet of orchid gladioli and her jewelry was a pearl necklace and pearl ear rings. Her headdress was an arrangement of orchid flacons.

Miss Krittenbrink wore a dress of Nile green, styled like that of the maid of honor. She carried an arm bouquet of salmon colored gladioli with matching flacons in her hair.

Barbara Naberhaus, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore orchid net with full length skirt and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pompons.

Mr. Carl Krittenbrink, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man and Mr. Bill Knecht, brother of the bride and Mr. Bernard Krittenbrink, cousin of the bridegroom were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a black wool suit with corsage of white mums.

A wedding breakfast at the bride's home followed the ceremony. A four tiered wedding cake topped with a "bride and groom," formed the centerpiece, on either side of which were gold and green tapers in crystal holders, tied with orchid tulle.

A reception at noon was attended by over one hundred relatives and friends.

The bride is a graduate of the Holy Trinity school and for the past five years has been employed as a clerk in the Okarche post office.

The bridegroom received his education in the Kingfisher schools and is a prosperous

Kansas City, Mo.—Doctors report many cases of infant feeding, difficult to handle, now respond readily to a Vitamin D enriched homogenized milk of remarkably improved flavor.

KANSAS CITY, MO. — Authoritative tests show essential natural milk minerals and vitamins in proper balance are safely retained through new secret methods of processing and evaporation. This process also makes possible highly successful, scientific enrichment in Vitamin D, adding 325 USP units of Vitamin D per 14½ ounces.

Beneficial results in baby formulas are further increased by more easy digestibility, assured by complete homogenization. Mothers and babies thrive on the greater nutrition derived. Babies usually accept this improved evaporated milk more readily because of its pleasing, satisfying taste.

Complete sterilization assures absolute safety, normally a most serious problem for mothers. A further safeguard: baby's welfare is the exact scientific uniformity in full nutritional value of this marvelous milk.

According to dairy authorities and pediatricians this new discovery in milk improvement is the most outstanding advancement in America's No. 1 basic food since pasteurization.

Development of this food to its present perfection has been carried on over a period of years by skilled dairy chemists and technicians in the laboratories of the Producers Creamery Co., Springfield, Mo., the milk development and marketing division of the great Missouri Farmers Association, reputed the largest of its kind in the United States, in the heart of a rich dairying country.

This improved product is known as homogenized DARICRAFT Evaporated Milk. Its sensational betterments in taste, vitamin content, and uniformity of quality, as well as its greater convenience and economy, make DARICRAFT equally valuable for all household uses and for infant feeding. Older children enjoy its flavor, too. It blends with and adds to the natural flavor of all cooked foods, cereals, coffee, desserts and fruits.

So popular and famous has this product become that practically all grocery stores can usually provide you with DARICRAFT, although civilian supplies are curtailed by heavy government demands for war time needs.

Second War Mothers Group Hears Leaders

Sedalia War Mothers' club two held its second meeting Friday afternoon at the USO, and heard Mrs. G. W. McNeill of Kansas City, formerly of Sedalia, who is post adjutant of the five-year-old Kansas City U. S. Army Mothers' Post No. 1, describe the work of the group.

"We mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of men and women in the armed forces of the United States associate ourselves together in this organization to uphold the constitution of the United States of America," is a pledge of the U. S. Army Mothers.

Mrs. McNeill told of the national plan, pointing out that the organization is non-political, non-sectarian and non-profit. The purpose is to promote general welfare of men and women in the armed forces, to cooperate in the national rehabilitation program and to do all to preserve the American institution and the American way of life.

Recently returned from the national convention, Mrs. McNeill reported that there are now 15,000 members. Missouri, she said, has the largest number of posts, 34.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. E. B. McNeill, president pro tem, and after confirmation of the election of officers, Mrs. O. L. Heckart presided.

The newly elected directors are: Courtesy chairman, Mrs. E. A. Steele; anniversary chairman, Mrs. Homer Jones; canteen chairman, Mrs. H. E. Engler; membership, Mrs. Earl Orr; social, Mrs. Raymond Weinrich; publicity, Mrs. Walter Brill.

New members who joined Friday night were: Mrs. Sebastian Urban, Mrs. C. E. Connelly, Mrs. J. T. Gledhill, Mrs. T. H. Dozier, Mrs. L. E. Hyatt, Mrs. Walter Brill, Mrs. J. R. Henderson, Mrs. George H. Winters, Mrs. H. E. Engler and Mrs. Joe Ginn.

Mrs. A. R. Beach, assistant director of the USO club, introduced the speaker of the evening, M. C. Bloss, new USO director here, and Mrs. Gloss were presented to the group of 46 women attending by the temporary presiding officer, Mrs. McNeill.

Members of Sedalia Club No. 1 were guests at the meeting. Club two will next meet on Friday, December 1, at the USO.

Additional Society

A wiener roast and dance was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Phillips Thursday evening.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lueck, Mr. and Mrs. Artie Nutt, Dale Phillips, Forest and Hugo Kappelman, Ruth and Eunice Bullard, Louise Harrison, Warren Lind, Robert, Jewell, Forest and Joe Taylor, Rosalee Gardner, Elmeta Marshall, Jim Fowler, Dorothy Reichkoff, Clayton Wheeler, Bud Wheeler, Dan Wayne and Charles Green, R. T. Keightley and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Phillips.

Music was furnished by Warren Lind and Artie Nutt.

Mrs. C. E. Crawford, 608 East Thirteenth street, entertained Friday afternoon from 2:00 to 6:30 o'clock honoring Mrs. Gustenia Watkins, former Sedalian, who now resides in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. Watkins is on her annual vacation and spent most of the two weeks with her two daughters in Nebraska, and on her return trip stopped in Sedalia to visit with friends here.

Guests were Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Ana Weedin, Mrs. W. E. Roach, Mrs. N. E. Miller, Mrs. Howard Robertson, Mrs. Bruce B. Norris, Mrs. Anna Knox, Mrs. F. W. Graves and Mrs. Ida Rhoades.

The honor guest was presented with a beautiful vase for flowers. Refreshments were served by the hostess in the late afternoon.

As the guests departed they told Mrs. Watkins of their happiness of seeing her again and hoped she would include her home town on her vacation trips each year.

Doyle Ross Mabry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Mabry, 508 West Twenty-second street, entertained with a Halloween party Tuesday evening.

The home was appropriately decorated with black and orange streamers, with crepe paper jack o' lanterns, black cats, shocks of corn and pumpkins. Halloween colors were also used on the dining room table and crystal holders held black and orange candles, with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums the gift of Mrs. R. M. Nutt.

Special guests were Edgar and Oscar Gumm of Bell Gardens, Calif., his cousins. Other guests were Miss Maxine Salmons, Miss Velmeda Salmons, Miss Doris Williams, Mrs. Robert Lee Mabry and daughters Florence, Roberta and Sandra, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Mabry, son, Anthony and daughter Luella.

Contests of bobbing for apples and other Halloween games were enjoyed, and in an artist contest Miss Maxine Salmons won first. Awards for the best costumes went to Velmeda Salmons, Florence Mabry and Doris Williams. Another feature was a fish pond with every guest receiving a gift.

Mrs. William Mabry was assisted by Mrs. R. L. Mabry in serving refreshments after which the guests attended the Halloween show at the Fox theatre.

A wiener roast was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Fisher, 636 East Sixteenth street and a picnic supper to which all contributed.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lujin and children, Bettie, Dorothy and Earl and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. O. Lujin, who recently came to Sedalia from Brisbane, Australia; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Neill, Mrs. Weddin, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Meyers, Junior and Edmund Fischer; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Scott and Mr. and Mrs. G. Ragy.

A feature of the evening was a wrestling match between Mr. Fisher and Mr. Fleming of which Mr. Fleming was winner.

The Young Musicians club will hold its monthly recital in the home of Mrs. Jewell H. Thomas, 401 Del-Vhi-Mo Court, at 2 o'clock this afternoon and the Mozart Music club will hold its recital at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Thomas is the instructor of the musicians.

PLEASE NOTE:

Present-day conditions have made it impossible for me to campaign as thoroughly as I would have liked. For this reason I may have failed to meet you and talk to you in person as I wanted to do. Please accept this as a personal solicitation of your support in the election Tuesday.

Briefly, I am a printer by trade, co-owner of the Sedalia Times Publishing Co. I am married and have one child, a son, now overseas. I myself saw combat service (35th Division) in World War I.

Success in my business makes me feel that I could handle the assessor's office with complete satisfaction to all. I promise to devote my full time and attention solely to the office, if elected. I earnestly and sincerely ask your consideration and will appreciate it if you should favor me with your vote.

Tigers Lose 6 To 24 To Jeff City Jays

Capes Scores Only S-C Touchdown On A 95-Yard Run

Dashing 95 yards, Gordon Capes of the Smith-Cotton Tigers scored the only Sedalia touchdown against the Jefferson City Jays, which team won the grid game at Liberty Park Friday night 24 to 6. The visiting Jays scored in each quarter.

Jack Wallace scored three of the visitors touchdowns and Bill McDermott was credited with the other on a pass tossed to him by Jack Keane.

Only twice did the Tigers get past the Jays 40-yard territory. Once was on Capes score and the other time when they recovered a Jays fumble early in the game.

Capes in the final stanza of the game, when on a fake punt formation play he whipped around and through the Jay defense and dashed to the goal line. The visitors were using their entire reserve material at the time.

Fans were treated to another thrill in the game before the final gun when Dick Gwinn of the visiting aggregation made a spectacular run of 60 yards for what appeared to be a touchdown, but was called back on an offside penalty against his team.

It was the seventh game of the season for the Tigers, and their fifth loss. Their only two victories were against St. Peter's of Jefferson City 25 to 0, and a 33 to 7 score against Clinton.

On Friday November 10, the Tigers will play their final home game against the Mexico, Mo., high school.

Undefeated Notre Dame Is Beaten

It Was Power, Power And More Power That Humbled The Irish

By WHITNEY MARTIN
 BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Fury engendered by eight yards of frustration would not be denied today as the Navy football team, a big, tough and power-laden machine, crushed the hitherto undefeated Notre Dame eleven, 32 to 13, in a game which kept an estimated capacity crowd of 67,000 in Municipal Stadium in various stages of emotion for the full 60 minutes.

The Middies, who sputtered and wheezed in early season games, were supposed to have exploded in smothering Penn a week ago, but that was only the pop of a cork compared with the blast they loosed against the ever-trying but thoroughly outplayed Irish.

Navy Has Anxious Moments
 Not that the Navy followers were without their anxious moments. For the first few minutes it seemed the proverbial luck of the Irish hovered over the field this hazy day. It was only a mirage, however, and once the Navy power had begun to exert itself, there seemed little doubt of the outcome save in the final half when Notre Dame at times threatened to pass its way into one of its traditional belated victories.

The Middies scored twice in the first period and again in the third before the thwarted Irish could push across a counter. Navy came right back with another touchdown in the fourth, saw the Irish match that, then powered across one more to put the game safely away.

It was power, power and more power that humbled the Irish. On offense it mattered not which backs of the horde on the Middle bench were in the game. They slashed and bulled and tore through the valiant Irish defense as a knife through tissue paper.

An Ever Crushing Line
 On defense, the big line rolled in like a gale-whipped sea to crush and shatter the Notre Dame runners, and in sheer desperation the Irish took to the air, often passing from deep in their own territory to thwart that ever-crushing line.

The big scare for Navy fans came shortly after the opening kickoff when Bill Barron fumbled an Irish punt on the Navy 18, and the Irish recovered. They advanced to the one, but their luck ran out and a five-yard penalty killed the scoring chance.

It was not until the last three minutes of the period that the real Navy power began to show. The Middies marched 45 yards for their first score, Clyde Scott, an omnipresent lad who appropriately hails from Smackover, Ark., smacked over from the five yard line. Three minutes later he did the same thing to climax a 44 yard march.

The Irish, after that first violent threat, were smothered at every turn on offense, and even Bob Kelly, a fine back when given half a chance, did well to get to the line of scrimmage.

Coon Dog's Baying Soon To Be Heard
 JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 4.—Missouri coon hunters can get their raccoon tags in advance of the opening of the season on that furbearer Dec. 1, the Conservation Commission announced today. Application for the tags can be made directly to the local conservation agent, or the hunter or trapper can write directly to the central office of the Commission at Jefferson City.

Regulations are the same as last year. Each coon taken must be properly tagged in accordance with instructions written on the tag; the limit per hunter for the season is ten raccoons, and the open season is from Dec. 1 to Jan. 15.

Mike Jacobs Cancels Menichelli-Denson Fight
 NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs said today that Monday's battle between Fernando (The Mighty) Menichelli of South America, and Johnny Denson of Indianapolis, was cancelled. Denson was knocked out by Sgt. Joe Louis in the second round at Detroit last night with the heavy-weight champion wearing 14 ounce gloves.

Famous West Point Varsity Nine of 1915 Has 9 Generals in World War II
 In case you didn't know it, the 1915 West Point baseball varsity had a powerful youngster as centerfielder who covered ground like a big leaguer and batted a terrific .333 for the season.

He's now playing the biggest game of his life in leading our doughboys in France since D-day. None other than Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley. And eight of Bradley's teammates of that year (their team won 17 out of 21 games and copped the Eastern Collegiate title) are generals too.

Here's the line-up as of today: Lt. Gen. Jacob L. (Jackie) Devers, officer-in-charge of the champions, who organized and built up the smashing tank units of the U. S. Army; Major Gen. Leland S. Hobbs, outfielder, now commanding the 30th Infantry Division; Major Gen. Hugh Mitchell, outfielder, now in charge of the Army Air Forces in the Eastern area; Major Gen. Charles G. H. Hart, third sacker, who now commands the 91st Division; Maj Gen. Vernon E. Prichard, shortstop commanding the 14th Armored Division; Major Gen. William C. McMahon, infielder; Major Gen. J. F. Miller, pitcher, now in the Air Service Command, and Brig Gen. Charles Miliken, second base, of the Signal Corps.

Return To Duty
 Orville Harsch, in the V-12 Naval program, has returned to the University of Oklahoma at Norman, Okla., and Leland Harsch, U. S. Navy has returned to Farragut, Idaho, after leaves spent with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harsch of Smithton.

Sport Scraps

(By D. KELLY SCRUTON)

SATURDAY was the day of football upsets, Navy knocked Notre Dame from the perch of unbeaten and untied grid teams, in what was considered the biggest of the nations games. Missouri blocked the Michigan State and knocked the props out from under them.

Army, Ohio State, Randolph Field, Mississippi State, Wake Forest, Norman, Navy, Yale, all managed to protect unmarred records, but Georgia Tech, Oklahoma Aggies, Alabama, and Iowa State were among those to taste their first bitter dose of defeat, along with Notre Dame and Michigan State.

Next week Army takes on Notre Dame, and this weekend, had hardly a workout against Villanova who fell in defeat 83 to 0 to the boys in khaki. Incidentally it was the Cadets third largest score in the history of the Army.

It only goes to show, that anything can happen in football these days, with the changes of rules regarding the eligibility of players, and rules of the game also.

LAST WEEK the Sporting News announced its annual awards in sports the broadcasting field and Dizzy Dean, who rose to the peak of his pitching fame a decade ago with the St. Louis Cardinals, also attained the pinnacle in his new field, that of sports broadcasting.

In announcing the awards, Dean was designated as the "No 1" play-by-play announcer for 1944.

THE other day I was visiting with some of the boys who played football back several years ago at Smith-Cotton high school, and the name of Vincent "Pete" Igo came up in the discussion. Much to my surprise, Saturday I received a letter from "Pete" now a Lieutenant (JG) in Uncle Sam's Navy, stationed at Detroit, Michigan.

"Pete" used to play a lot of football at Smith-Cotton and then played some football with Oklahoma at Norman. He writes me that he saw Michigan whip Purdue a week ago, and then on Sunday Green Bay smothered the Detroit Lions.

I can imagine that with the added years, and so on, Pete would still like to shove someone around on the gridiron.

SOME remarks were made about Gordon Capes 95 yard run, Friday night, against Jefferson City for a touchdown. "twas easy against a bunch of reserves, said a party", but on the other hand 95-yards in a long way to run, with all that equipment hanging on, and reserves, or regulars, it don't make a lot of difference who they are to me it was a nice run and Gordon deserves the credit.

When one stops to think it over a reserve can tackle a ball carrier, maybe not as effective as a regular but he certainly can slow him up for someone else.

It isn't in every game a run like that can be made. Give the credit to him for making it anyway.

LAST WEEK I happened to be down in Benton County covering the murder of Sheriff Louis Miesner, and bloodhounds were pressed into the hunt for the murderer. It was interesting to watch the dogs work, and in spite of the fact it was a serious matter of business, it was also sport to watch him.

But the Trooper who was handling one of the dogs came in for a little ribbing by some of the party who were working with him. They said they couldn't tell which was the dog, as he sometimes appeared to be pulling the dog.

Kidding aside the dogs had a tough job, dry weather, and stiff breeze blowing made it difficult for the dogs to work Wednesday night and Thursday morning, but old "Bob" did show up fairly well on the trail Friday afternoon.

High Masonic Conclave Here
 The annual assembly of the Saint Chrysostom Conclave No. 36 of the Order of the Red Cross of Constantinople, which is a high Masonic order, will convene in Sedalia on Saturday, November 11.

Dr. A. J. Campbell of Sedalia is the Illustrations Sovereign, which is the highest office.

This assembly is a formal affair with members of the order attending from all over the state. Only one other Sedalian besides Dr. Campbell is a member. He is Jolly P. Hurr, one of Sedalia's foremost workers in the Masonic order.

A business meeting will be held at 5:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple and a banquet will be held at 6:30 o'clock at the Bothwell hotel which will be attended by the Knights Companion of the Order, and their Ladies and their guests.

Reconstruct The Roumania Regime
 LONDON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Roumanian government, which has been accused by Moscow of protecting Fascist elements, has resigned and has been reconstituted on a more democratic basis, the Bucharest radio said tonight.

Gen. Konstantin Sanatescu remains at its head as President of the Council of Ministers and holds the additional Portfolio of Interim Minister of War, the broadcast said.

 HANFORD, Calif., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Twenty persons were killed when an airplane crashed near here tonight, Sheriff Orvie H. Clyde of Kings county reported. Clyde said that the plane appeared to be a commercial airliner, and that the persons killed were army and navy personnel.

Truman Qualifies To Vote Tuesday
 INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Sen. Harry S. Truman, Democratic candidate for vice president, and Mrs. Truman, qualified today to vote in the presidential election Tuesday.

Under Missouri law, residents of rural areas and smaller cities must register every four years to qualify as voters. Truman was out of the city on the regular registration dates, October 3-7.

Election board officials accepted their affidavit that they were out of the city on a business trip those dates and therefore unable to appear at that time. No court order was required.

Their daughter, Margaret, is too young to vote.

The senator arrived late today to make his final campaign speech in his home town.

Pettis Countians Get Two Deers
 Deer hunters from Sedalia accounted for at least two bucks last week end, with two being brought back and reports given the sports department of the Democrat-Capital.

Earl "Potts" Evans, shot a four-point buck in Gasconade county, near Rose Bud, Mo. "Potts" shot the deer, but divided up with two friends from Kansas City, Walter and Fred Ehlers of Kansas City, who had a bad season for 1944.

L. J. Smith, and Hugh Collins both shot a five-point buck, Smith following Collins in the shooting. Collins shot his bow and arrow and struck the deer, but it appeared to try to run off about the time Smith fired his 30-30, so both claim a joint kill on the animal. Charles Pfander, Kansas City was in the party.

Michigan State Is Upset By M. U. Tigers

Knocked From List Unbeaten And Untied By A Score Of 13 to 7

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Missouri University Tigers spoiled the unbeaten and untied football record of Michigan State here this afternoon by charging to two second half touchdowns after they had trailed the Spartans 7-0 at the half.

The final score was Michigan State 13, Missouri 7.

Sparked by Robert Hopkins, substituting for the Tigers' star runner, Bill Dellastatious, the Missourians scored without losing the ball after the second half kick off. Paul Collins, quarter back went over for the first Tiger touchdown to culminate a 60 yard drive. Jim Kekeris, 272 pound Missouri tackle missed his placement for the extra point.

Undismayed at failing to tie the score, the Tigers continued to outplay the Spartans and early in the fourth quarter drove to the deciding touchdown. A pass interception by Max Riley, Missouri full back, set the stage for the second drive which began on the Missouri 35 yard line.

Collins passed to Bob Egleberger, Tiger end, for 24 yards to take the ball to the Spartan 26. From this point Collins broke loose on a 13 yard jaunt to take the pig skin to the 13 and a series of short gains took the ball to the 1 foot line where Collins again worked the quarter back sneak for the score. This time Kekeris' placement sailed through for the added point.

Bill Dellastatious, star Tiger half back who carried the brunt of the Missouri attack in the first half, was injured two plays before the midway gun and failed to get back in the ball game.

Hopkins, however, proved an able substitute and repeatedly tore through the Spartan defense for sizeable gains. His running, together with heads up play by Paul Collins, proved the spark that set off the Tiger dynamite.

The Spartans failed to threaten at any time after the second quarter.

Both the Tigers and their visitors threw long, desperate aerials, trying to detour around the tough action in the line and around the ends.

Full back Jack Breslin was the most consistent ground gainer for the Spartans besides doing his team's punting and passing.

K. C. Bouts OK'd For Nov. 30 At SAAF

There's mighty good news for local boxing fans as a result of the visit of Captain L. J. Stilwell and Sgt. George Sanders of the Gym staff to Kansas City last Monday on a talent search, but there's also a slight disappointment. The SAAF Boxing Exhibition, which tentatively had been set for November 14, has been moved back two weeks and now will be held definitely on the night of Thursday, November 30.

This is caused both by the re-finishing of the gym floor, which will take two weeks, and to the previous commitments of the KC fighters who were contacted Monday.

The wait will be well worth it, for Captain Stilwell and Sgt. Sanders received the promise of a full card of Kansas City boxers to appear here that November 30 night, in addition to the bouts between the SAAF fighters.

Enthusiastic over the reception they received in Kansas City, Captain Stilwell stated that Coach Myers, who handles boxing for the city, Ernie Mehl, boxing expert of the Kansas City Star, and Manager Baker of the Municipal Auditorium, showed much interest in SAAF's boxing plans and that it is probable that at least ten different bouts will be arranged between KC fighters at the Exhibition.

The KC fight impresarios also offered to sponsor a SAAF team at a future date, in Kansas City, against a boxing team from another local Army camp. All in all, in the very near future, big things are ahead for the fight fans.

Sedalia Secretary Of Class At Rolla
 ROLLA, Mo., Nov. 4.—Robert Glenn Barrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Barrick, 2505 East Twelfth street, Sedalia, Mo., has been elected secretary of the freshman class on the campus of the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, Rolla, Mo., where he is a student.

Robert is a pledge in the Tri-angle fraternity and plays the Alto horn in the MSM band. He is enrolled in chemical engineering.

Anxious To Get Purse Back With Photograph
 Mrs. H. G. Arrington, 805 West Main street, Saturday lost a purse containing a small amount of change, a photograph of her deceased husband, who met death in an automobile accident north of Sedalia, some time ago, also glasses and a "gas" ration book. She is especially anxious to get the photograph back.

Fined Five Dollars
 Henry Stanford, Negro, who was taken from train No. 15, Missouri Pacific, Friday evening, was fined five dollars in police court Saturday morning after he pleaded guilty to Magistrate C. W. Bente. He paid three dollars of the fine and was given a stay on two dollars.

Fined Ten Dollars
 Jim Grace, Clinton, Ia., charged with being intoxicated, pleaded guilty to Magistrate C. W. Bente in police court Saturday morning and was fined $10. Unable to pay the fine he was committed to the city jail.

MR. BENNETT CLAIMS HE VOTED FOR THE INTEREST OF THE FARMER. LET'S SEE HIS RECORD IN CONGRESS:

1. He voted on February 3, 1944, against giving the soldier a right to vote on a Federal ballot.

2. On April 28, 1943, he voted against incentive payments. This bill was a direct attempt to help the small farmer produce more food.

3. On June 18, 1943, he voted to reduce funds for price control. He thus went on record for inflation.

4. July 2nd, 1943, he voted against subsidy payments to farmers.

5. November 23, 1943, he voted against extending the Commodity Credit Corporation. This bill would have paid small farmers for extra efforts in raising war food.

6. February 17, 1944, re-affirmed his stand against above subsidies in the form of a conference report. On the next day he voted again the same way on the same proposal.

7. The President by executive order had limited salaries for the duration to $25,000 a year. He voted to rescind the order on March 12, 1943. This allows the rich man to make all the money he can and leaves "the sky the limit."

8. The President recommended a tax bill large enough to pay a large per cent of the war costs as we go. He opposed it.

9. On June 22, 1943, an attempt was made to increase the amount available for soil conservation. It had been $500,000,000, but appropriation committee put the item at $300,000,000. A motion was made to increase it to $400,000,000. He thought $300,000,000 was enough and voted against the increase.

10. June 22, 1943, he voted against the agricultural extension act—the proposal being to extend it for 1 year. A week later, it was again before the house and he voted against it.

11. June 23, 1943, the House had proposed $3,500,000 for crop insurance. The Senate wanted $7,800,000. The House bill was defeated as insufficient. When the Senate bill came over, he voted against it, defeating the last hope for crop insurance. We have no crop insurance now, and will have none till a congress favorable can be elected.

12. On June 29, 1943 he voted against incentive payments to small farmers. The small farmer had made the greatest per cent increase in his production of food, yet Mr. Bennett refused to allow him to be recognized. The record shows that only once did he vote for the interest of the farm.

13. June 23, 1943, he voted to increase the Rural Electrification appropriation by $10,000,000. This was not too much money for this wholesome democratic enterprise, but he could not spare any money for crop insurance.

14. He voted to liquidate the Home Owners Loan Corporation, because big business wanted that business. The H. O. L. C. had saved thousands of homes for the small home owner.

—Democratic County Committee, JOHN CONNOR, Chairman.

The next four years . . . the post war years . . . will embrace the most critical era in our country's history. Millions of service men and women seeking jobs; an almost total reconversion of industry; an economic upheaval such as the world has never known. Is that a job for political pollyannas, experimenters, and theorists? . . . or for the clear-thinking judgment of practical business men? It will call for business administration . . . with a steady, strong hand at the helm that can gain the full-hearted cooperation of industry.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR SEDALIA —

Sedalia to have a new Block and Brick factory.

Walter C. Cramer and Carl G. Schrader, who will be the owners and managers of this new industry, will manufacture Haydite block, Concrete blocks, Cinder blocks and Haydite brick. Also concrete Drain and Sewer tile.

The Haydite Blocks will be the leading material for buildings and homes.

Mr. Cramer and Mr. Schrader have purchased property in the 1200 block on West Main street, which was formerly owned by the White Rose Oil Co. There are 330 feet of ground which will be used.

There is at present two buildings on the property and additional buildings will be built as soon as possible.

They expect to be manufacturing blocks in the next 6 to 8 weeks.

Machinery for this plant is to be bought in St. Louis.

There will be quite a number of people employed at this plant.

"Live up to your heritage" Dr. Robert C. Williamson, pastor of the Congregational - Presbyterian church told members of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club, at a dinner meeting at the Bothwell hotel Thursday evening.

The speaker dwelt on the finer things of life, of the wonderful opportunities available—not material things because men and women may be cultured, well bred, educated and happy without being rich. It is the inner-self that counts most, he said, and by developing higher ideals and living up to them, character is developed and when the test for courage comes, the person is able to meet it.

Dr. Williamson was introduced by Mrs. N. L. Nelson, chairman of the legislative committee, which group was in charge of the program.

Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Henry C. Salvester and Mrs. John H. Rodeman. Mrs. Salvester gave two piano numbers, and accompanied Mrs. Rodeman who played two numbers and an encore, on the violin.

Miss Bertha Rose presided over the business session.

Two new members were introduced, Miss Alma Adams and Miss Alyce Summers.

Guests were Miss Pearl Tongate, Mrs. George Suter and Mrs. Siegel Woodard.

Gains On Stock Market For Week

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(P)—The stock market today finished a generally steady week with minor plus signs predominating.

From Monday on the principal discussion in boardrooms was the election and opinions were sufficiently diversified to keep trends pretty well balanced. As the week concluded there was little more wishful political thinking apparent in the financial sector and some timid purchasing was attributed to this influence.

Except for minor stumbles on Monday and Friday, advancing tendencies were the rule.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 1.1 of a point at 55.3 and on the week held a net gain of .5. Transfers for the final two hours amounted to 358,030 shares against 298,150 last Saturday.

Bonds were mixed.

Grain Declines In A Dull Market

By TOM WILLIAMS
CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(P)—Profit taking developed near the close of today's trade in grain futures and prices turned fractionally lower after having held firm most of the session. Closing quotations were near the day's lows.

At the close wheat was unchanged to 1/4 lower than yesterday's finish, December $1.63 1/2. Corn was off 3/4 to 1/2, December $1.08 1/2. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, December 63 1/2. Rye was unchanged to off 1/4, December $1.10 1/4. Barley was unchanged to 1/4 lower, December $1.02 1/2.

Escape Plot Before Sheriff Meisner Slain

A story of a plot to give Sheriff L. J. Meisner of Warsaw, Benton county, sleeping powders for a jail break before he was finally shot Wednesday, was reported at Kansas City Friday.

It resulted in Kansas City police taking in custody two young women and a man for questioning. It involved putting the sleep producing powders through the dinner served the sheriff.

Two Women And Man Questioned At Kansas City

A 19-year-old Pratt & Whitney worker, Miss Flo Ella Salisbury, was arrested when it became known she had tried to borrow a revolver the night of the Warsaw shooting.

Miss Salisbury spoke freely of an attachment formed for Kenneth Holloway, still a prisoner in the county jail at Warsaw, and told a story that pictured herself and Holloway's wife as carrying sleeping powders to the jail and otherwise being on the outskirts of the plot.

The Salisbury woman said she left her Meadville, Mo., home in August, 1943, began rooming with a sister on Troost avenue and found prompt employment at a dime store, later taking a job with a manufacturing company.

After a visit to California, Flo Ella returned to Kansas City to live at 2505 Forest avenue, where she became acquainted with Holloway, and other roomers. She went about with Holloway, learned he was separated from his wife, Lulu, who lived in Lincoln, Mo., with a 3-year-old son.

This fall, Flo Ella told the police, Holloway became anxious to avoid the police, finally mentioning he had obtained $900 from a burglary at the Twenty-fifth street tavern. She took Holloway to the home of her folks at Lincoln, which drew a prompt call from the highway patrol. Flo Ella handed over Holloway's .38-caliber blue steel revolver and Holloway was taken to Warsaw on a burglary charge.

It was October 26 that Kenneth Holloway's wife came to the Forest avenue address, staying with Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Barber, according to the "girl friend."

"We all talked about Kenneth," Flo Ella said in her statement to the police. "She told us Kenneth did not want to stay in jail, and was going to get away if he could. She asked if I would go down with her to see Kenneth."

Flo Ella added she met Lulu Holloway in Lincoln October 30. The next day the two women, it was related, went to a drug store to get sleeping powders Kenneth had requested in his escape plan. After the wife had made the purchase, she learned the powders only made a person relax. Flo Ella said she was told a woman prisoner, acting as cook, easily could get the tablets in the sheriff's food or drinks and all would escape. But there was doubt as to the efficiency of the tablets.

Doubt On Tablets

The two women and the little Holloway boy then made the trip to Warsaw and got permission to talk to Holloway, who was in a cell by himself. Holloway did not think the tablets would do the job.

Holloway, Flo Ella continued called to Goff, in another cellroom, and was told everything was clear. Goff advised that the wife should get different sleeping powders that really would put the sheriff to sleep. Flo Ella said Holloway mentioned they would escape to the hills and then hold up the bank at Lincoln to replenish their funds.

Holloway asked for a hack saw and some keys that would fit a cabinet where the sheriff kept his machine gun. Flo Ella promised she would send the wife any saw blades she could get in Kansas City. Also she would get a pistol at a pawnshop if it did not cost too much.

Holloway remarked he would not kill anyone with the machine gun unless forced to. Flo Ella saw Goff moving around as a trusty and bringing in an armload of wood.

The police questioned Boyce Barber, cab driver, who denied any knowledge of the Warsaw business, and a 28-year-old woman, bomber plant employee Miss Salisbury named as another of Holloway's friends.

Holloway, at the time of the shooting, was locked in his cell on the first floor. Meisner was slain in his living quarters on the second floor.

A third prisoner, Mrs. Goldie Smith, also awaiting trial on a charge of burglary, had been allowed the privileges of a trusty to do cooking and cleaning chores, but had not been locked up.
